"This network is blocked due to unaddressed abuse complaints about malicious behavior. This page checks to see if it's really a human sending the requests and not a robot coming from this network."

Then it had IP + URL down below and a captcha. SWIM tried multiple browsers, google was blocked in each one. VPN was active. SWIM can access google again since disconnecting.

Never saw this message before. After a quick search it looks like some other people are getting hit with it this morning too. Do you guys think it's anything to be bothered over?

Google does this when you use a crappy VPN that people abuse.
