Thread: Ownership of my IG Bot

Not going to ramble on, but I got a really good job where I'm making $xx,xxx most months. I just don't really have time to continue marketing and selling bots and providing customer support to new users. Trying to offload some of the random internet products that I sell.

$600 takes the entire bot with the source code. Includes the ownership. Comes as-is and will remain attached to my licensing system. If you want a clone of my licensing system as well. The final price is $800; The licensing system is a full web UI that supports multiple programs.

Any questions can be sent to me directly via PM.

I've made around $2,000 off of this bot within the last year and I've paid $0 in marketing. It's an actual goldmine if you just market it and spruce it up a bit. Super easy to update and if you're interested I can give you more info on that as well.

How much work is it to update the bot every time the IG API is updated?

What language(s) is the bot created with?

C#

Barely any at all, but it may cost $50 - $100 to update it. I've only needed to update it twice in the last 4 years.

Thanks for the response - I'm abit confused as in your sales thread you mentioning updating the API about 10 times in a year, is it referring to something else?

That was either adding new features (like newly introduced Instagram app features) or upgrading things like the API headers. API headers is basically just an integer value of the app version. It doesn't NEED to be updated for 6 - 12 months but the more up-to-date it is, doesn't hurt anything. If the API headers are always up to date then you have less to worry about but it's def not an urgent thing

Would be interested, but details on the original post have been removed. Does this mean it was purchased?

No just means I was an idiot and deleted the thread before I listed the information here. Shoot me a PM if you're interested still :)
