Thread: Just joined this forum - Introduction

- Heisenberg - - September 14, 2023, 3:16 am

Hello members,

I was surfing Google for a solution to my problem and found this wonderful forum. I must say, the forum looks really great based on the content that I see here. This is the first time I have joined a forum.

Could anyone guide me, on what should I do to contribute like other members here?

Thank you for the warm regards :)

I want to change my profile picture but do not see any option. I only get the default option to choose a picture. Can you guide me?

Welcome my friend, the very first thing you should do is familiarise yourself with the Help Docs! :))

I'll upgrade my account soon. As I see more features and options are given after the upgrade.

To upload a custom avatar you need to be upgraded. Test out the site and its functionality first and see if you would like to continue with the forum and upgrade as you wish.

I am browsing forums and reading more and more content here. It seems like there is no end-of-the-quality stuff I can find here.

Definitely, I'll buy upgrade soon.

you can open up giveaways etc to contribute to other members if you want. Also you can help people with knowledge which you already have.

I was looking for a forum where people discuss openly about RAT / Botnets. My search brought me here. I am definitely going to upgrade my account. Hopefully next week.

The giveaway sounds like a good idea. I am making $2K/week through one of my online business. Maybe I could share that method for free.

Could you tell me, where can I post about it here on HF?
