Looking for something in particular though tbh. My spoofing service is raping me up the ass to utilize. & it's pretty necessary with my normal work flow process. Any recommendations? Help? Please?

Lol

I figure asking amongst this kind of audience would be a long shot but I'll never know until I've given it a try! ??

Thanks. I'm not too sure if I'm responding in the correct manner on this site's platform. It's rather confusing! So what is the usual talk on this kind of thing anyhow? Was trying to skim & see if anything could be resourceful or if I could even understand anything ? I'm clearly not a hacker.... Just barely getting into doing much on the computer since it always was a scary thought how easy it would be to track someone as naive as I was. Finally have some credible enough guidance to trust it for now though.
