any databases that let you filter with phone numbers?

Neocousteau - September 18, 2023, 2:43 pm

usphonebook.com is a good place to start

Well it's a reverse phone number engine technically.

There are plenty of good ones out there which requires money. But if you're talking about actually sifting through databases, it depends on the databases that got dumped. If you have that collection, you can use sift to manually look for those db dumps.

yeah, just sadly that site isn't that updated for phone numbers from what I've seen. It's pretty effective on reverse addy lookups and name lookups though. Just not fully updated. It seems like that site got disbanded.
