Thread: What's a game you used to love that you don't play anymore?

FunnyHands - September 20, 2023, 12:10 pm

For me it's COD, I used to play local multiplayer COD every single day when I was younger with my friends and I remember having an absolute blast, but as I got older I found myself avoiding COD due to not having a competitive nature and not being as interested

I still like COD games to a degree, I play the story modes when I can but I can't ever see myself getting into it like I was before

BiNBo - September 20, 2023, 1:27 pm

I'd say it'd have to be CS:S and CSGO, used to play religiously when I was younger. At one point I had even joined up with a team playing competitively. Sadly, life happens and as I got older there just wasn't enough time. Still look back on those memories fondly though.

Sounds like it was awesome, I'm glad you can look back fondly on those times ?

Metal Gear Solid 4 back on the PS3.

Online mode was insanely good (a bit confusing at first to even play the game online). But that feeling will never come back.

I didn't even know MGS4 had an online mode, I hope you can find something that good again one day and it's great ?

You have to check it out. It's probably down now (other than someone else hosting servers somehow).

But here's a random TDM video I found.

It looks like it was amazing, I ended up watching the whole thing through cause it looked so damn fun haha

I really loved the map design, the UI, how you can pick your own music

It feels like it's genuinely apart of the MGS universe also, the part with the magazine stopping the guards made me crack up

It just looks fun, I bet it was even greater playing it! Thanks for showing me this btw, it was a cool watch ?

No problem. Only reason Metal Gear Solid 5 Online died was because it wasn't on PC for so long. It'll just never have that type of fun again.

Mario Kart old game but so fun

I have to agree with you and say COD is the game for me as well.

I used to play local and online multiplayer ALL the time! My friends and I would hop on together every single day after school, I made multiple accounts on the original MW2, one being a knife only profile, pulling ninja-diffuses on World at War, etc...

I grew out of Call of Duty because it used to bring out this rage inside me (CoD Rage) and make me an absolute terror of a person. I too enjoy the story modes occasionally still, but that's because I'm a whore for PlayStation Trophies.

honeyspoons - September 22, 2023, 2:25 am the sonic the hedgehog series, any of the games. don't know why i haven't played any in so long, actually

HOMODIN - September 22, 2023, 2:44 am

Team Fortress 2 - it got however ruined by the trade feature and all the random trade invites that got spammed. Sure, I traded too so didn't want to disable the trade feature, but, there was trade servers and then normal servers...

Net - September 22, 2023, 3:12 am

Risk of Rain 2.

I was so addicted to that game, which I stumbled upon by accident. The only reason why I bought it, was because it was on sale for 80%. I probably have around 1000 hours on that game and I had to install mods to have higher difficulties, since the hardest difficulty became too easy for me.

But yea, I started playing it less and less and I haven't touched the game in probably over 2 months.

Omniscient - September 22, 2023, 11:58 am

Counter-Strike. Played it for hundreds of hours 20 years ago. I miss the comradery with my buddies.

Seaking - September 22, 2023, 12:09 pm

Runescape and WoW. All my buddies in school would be playing it and we would get together and do quests and PvP on weekends. After high school I got into WoW and got into an awesome guild. What really kept me in both games was the community. Been looking to get back into Runescape again though.

blackrose_x0x0 - September 22, 2023, 1:38 pm

World of Warcraft. I used to be huge into the game during the lich king and cataclysm expansions. It's still one of my favorite games of all time but I don't see myself going back to it ever again.

BlackMale - September 22, 2023, 2:07 pm

There are some old games that I used to play on the snes that I don't play anymore such as donkey kong.

Yin Yang - September 22, 2023, 2:37 pm

Halo 2. It was the reason that eventually led me to these forums.

SoulHarvester - September 22, 2023, 6:53 pm

Halo 1 it forced me to learn coding trainers...

Mr. Corleone - September 23, 2023, 1:42 am

Battleon, Habbo Hotel, Runescape, World of Warcraft, League of Legends, GTA San Andreas, the likes.

Come on no-one shoot out for goldeneye 007.
The gold gun

Ivanka Trump - September 23, 2023, 3:14 am

GTA San Andreas and COD MW2 (Xbox 360).

San Andreas always gives me the happy nostalgic vibes. Just roaming around and experiencing the easter eggs, missions etc.

MW2 was just a blessing to have played in the Xbox 360 days, doing trickshots and quickscoping was something I'll never forget til this day.

Ninja™ - September 23, 2023, 9:13 am

Counter Strike GO but not anymore.
Good old memories.

I used to play all these as well! Actually I still play League and Runescape sometimes but I haven't touched my RS account in like 6 months. I miss playing it so much but I just can't seem to enjoy it like I used to. I play TFT on League all the time tho Minecraft. I used to love playing it. Then I got interested in making servers. Deep, deep rabbit hole. Spent so much time writing configs for plugins. Trying to make my dream server (with an RPG questing mixed with crafting and modular weapons/magic system like borderlands but user customizable). Somewhere along the way I got too obsessed with perfection, and the people I played with got sick of me focusing on the server and not playing. Also they grew up. When they stopped playing, it stopped being rewarding improving my server for 0 playerbase. Took a break and tried to play again, played for a few months. But realized my passion was creating an experience. But didn't wanna do that if no one was around to enjoy it. So I stopped.

I remember playing Minecraft PS3 Edition on 2011 with my older brother. I still remember i always stuck at the tutorial world where there's a giant Minecraft at the sky. I remember when i thought that i need dirt to create crafting table until my Brother tell me to use woods.

I still playing Minecraft until right now even i speedrun the game for 1 hours. But it was never the same as when I played as a kid on my old PS3.

I once got goosebumps when I heard the original Minecraft soundtrack made by C418. It reminds me of when I was little when I came home from school and always turned up the volume on my TV.

It will never be the same as a kid.

Omn1W4tch3r - October 3, 2023, 12:38 pm

Guild Wars. The first one. I played the hell out of it and its expansions. Couldnt get into the sequel.

Aeowulf - October 3, 2023, 12:46 pm

Madden and FIFA (now FC).

EA Sports killed great franchises.

Same here. I have so many memories in this game.

I have had some kind of tradition for the past 6-7 years - every December/January, I play the game for two months, and then I quit.

I can't really describe the experience, but I guess you can feel it too. ?

Bastille - October 3, 2023, 12:55 pm

Spent thousands of hours of a game called Dofus, a french MMORPG. But as I'm growing everytime I'm playing I feel that I'm wasting my time, it's kinda sad to don't enjoy anymore playing video games :/

DoubleDiego - October 3, 2023, 1:00 pm

Time spent enjoying something is never time wasted. What is the purpose of life?

Halo and Gears of War.

I used to love the Halo series so much, but 4 really lost me. Then after that it was too difficult to get back into it. H2, H3, and H: Reach will always be in my heart.

I love GoW 2 and 3 so much but I couldn't keep up with everything after that.

I still every now and then go on Master Chief collection and play H2 some.

Mac Miller - October 4, 2023, 9:59 am

Halo. Used to play that a lot when I was a kid

Couldn't agree more. I created a lot of great memories and a few friendships online that have lasted over a decade now from Wow. I like your tradition of playing for a couple months every year! I do the same with a handful of games like Zelda OoT and Majoras Mask.

Blazin - October 4, 2023, 6:26 pm

The halo franchise to be honest.
