Thread: Facebook Account Recovery

tslivar - September 25, 2023, 7:16 am

Need someone to recover my Facebook page that was connected to my account before my account was hacked.

I can see the page on Facebook but cant access it anymore.

Tried allready with Facebook help but in two years they did not solve my problem. ?

Any ideas?

How old is the Facebook??

Are their any leads on this profile?

Tbh, your chances is pretty low, bro.

When your acct was hacked, ofc all the credential infos has been changed included email and password.

The best chances are asking help with facebook support, but as you said they couldn't help either.

Usually, they have a policy where if you don't contact them within a certain timeframe, the account cannot be recovered. What to do best is email them and provide as much information as possible. This could boost your odds of getting it back, explain what happened and if you have any security phrases (cats name, city you were born in, etc) try to tell them those as well.
