Please clarify "keeps you safe from blacklists".

Are you saying, barring any trigger words/attachments/quality of the letter, that the letters will always hit inbox?

Can you choose any domain from your list?

Can you add premium/custom domains the customer would own?

Hi Dyne,

1) No restrictions, meaning you can get creative on what content you put out on your mailing campaigns. Obviously Gmail/Hotmail and other providers, still block content that is does not pass their smartfilters. So you need to get creative. :) This does not always guarantee that the emails will hit the INBOX! all depends on quality of your template, letter and content!

2) No, the domains are assigned and rotated at random per licence key, per person. You do not pick these, but they only use 2 word smtp domains, and spoofing usually shadows that.

3) No, the domains are assigned by the licence key creator, this is something we may look to implement further down the line, but for now. The purpose of this software is to do Bulk Emails and you can use the following:

First Name, Last Name, Address in the Title, Subject Line and Content. Fully Customisable HTML Code can be used within the software! :)

I'm very interested in your service, is it possible to set up a filter that refund the customer if the emails go to "spam" directly on the current big email services: Hotmail, Google?

What is the current success rate?

How strong are the sending servers? are they warmed up? How many clients per domain?

These prices are extremely cheap.. hence my suspicion.

Hi Mulatto, unfortunately it still counts as delivered, if it hits spam, success rate all depends on content and rotation of servers, if you customise your emails and templates, using HTML and custom Syntax Tags, even if it hits email and your mailing lists are High Quality, ie: you have their real first name and last name and maybe address or number, you can easily structure an email that they will open even if in spam :)

Great question Osn, and yes I've personally have use Mailchimp and other providers, that are charging mad money for the same service, the only additional perks those mainstream overpriced, overly restricted and highly monitored services give are tracking and analytics on emails. This is something I hope we will implement in the near future, but as of right now the prices are Very Cheap - This is only introductory to the platform! The prices are all subject to change hence the ToS of this service! Please take advantage before the prices become much more expensive. :)

I appreciate the reply but it didn't answer my questions. Are IP's warmed up? How? How many clients per server?

If a server is blacklisted, sending 30k will become useless, because it won't inbox.. so yeah.. you will send 30k mails, but it will get filtered out on mail server.

I think that in order to maintain quality, you should at least 5x the prices or else I don't see a way to maintain quality.

(Not even talking about the amount of heat you can attract by a single license of 30$)

Hi Osn,

We only doing a few licences at low-cost as the smtp servers have been tested, warmed up at the moment.

We've ran tests, and the delivery is been spot on, whenever a server is blacklisted, its replaced.

In regard to the technical questions around how many clients per server etc, this I will leave to @whitepearl to answer, as he is the dev, I've asked the question, once I have the answer I will get back to you.

The price is introductory - I will be raising this as we refresh and add more servers per client. As this is a new service the servers and email pressure isn't as high. Obviously more customers, quality will become more important over quantity.

Regarding to heat: These are custom 2 word domains that are sourced by the dev, the emails are untraceable so you would not need to worry about that. :)

UPDATES:

1) Spoofing certain @ does not work, if you're trying to spoof @google.com or something, the SMTP servers will block that. If you're thinking of spoofing make it original/new or creative if you want your emails to hit the (INBOX)

2) Spoofing/Non Spoofing works for hitting INBOX mainly on Gmail accounts, I have ran lots of tests, and Hotmail seem to put things in spam regardless.

3) Make sure to customise your emails using $entry1$ <--- First Name, $entry2$ <--- Surname, $entry3$ <--- Address to make it pop.

4) Templates and characters fix's have been applied.

If you need help or ideas on how to use this correctly, in a way to market/spread etc. Please DM me, and I'll give you some ideas. :)

Hey buddy, what's your review on this product.

Do you vouch for this service?

How was your experience using it?

-DarkByDesign- - October 19, 2023, 11:38 am

(Oct 19, 2023 06:24 AM)Dyne Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) No.

Apart from the software being <down> when I was first issued the license, the software did not perform as advertised (spoofing). And I did not use the license after the initial tests. The seller offered a refund and I declined.

The mailer had a bad spam/inbox ratio against gmail. Not saying it can't be improved, but I would not recommend this software.

I chose to not leave a negative B rating because the seller took accountability and offered the refund, but I would recommend against purchasing this for anything.

I have some good news, the dev has finally re-developed the software since the original server went down and it was lost. I've been working closely with the developer to make sure a lot of these would be improved and worked upon.

I've had almost a 100% hit on Inbox, using HTML templates to Gmail since and Hotmail has been faced with challenges, its near impossible not to inbox them. We have tried almost everything and they go to spam when they are Outlook/Hotmail email addresses.

I will be contacting all buyers tomorrow who would like to go ahead with the licencing.

The main focus has been with re-developing this and bringing it online is to make sure that all emails are sent, and you get a healthy report back to those being sent. It runs a little slower, because we had to put pause-breaks in-between every 200-400 emails being sent as SMPT servers kept having issues when so many being sent so quickly.

I appreciate your honest feedback Dyne, and we will continue to work on improving the service. :)

UPDATE: ORDERS ARE NOW OPEN! Please Open contract with $ on the package you are after, all details will be provided. Licence keys will be issued for the package within 12-24hours of payment received. I will try my best to get this to all of you faster!

Your possibility of hitting Hotmail and outlook is 10% to Non. Reasons goes a long way around Microsoft itself and not you or dev. which i will keep to myself.

I don't know how you integrated smtp to software but if all your customers are all connected to one smtp portal, the possibility of customer experiencing server down situation for some reason known to you, won't stop.

And when it comes to email spoofing, I will say the possibilities of hitting inbox will be less than 30% based on how i think software was designed.

I believe with a some reasonable updates by dev your software could improve a lot more.

We won't have downtime, it was a host issue, and like any SMTP there is always improvements this could be server side. We working on improving all the time, and have done so in the redevelopment and the new release. :)

Hi Kraft,

Inbox rate varies based on content, from testing most suppliers especially Gmail hit Inbox everytime. Hotmail and outlook is hitting Spam almost always as they have strict filtering rules.

To still get clicks and attention in Spam. We have customisable syntaxs, so you can customise emails with names and addresses in Title, Subject and Content.

Hi Migos,

We have almost every hit in most providers, depending on content and spoof email used.

Gmail, Yahoo tested hitting inbox but not always 100% garaunteed.

Outlook/Hotmail always hits Spam unfortunately.
