Thread: Lukasi has Disputed a Contract with Mr. Robot \(2682887 \)

Disputed Member: <https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=2682887>

This is my story with Mr. Robot.(It lasted for 6 months.)

I registered my account on HF platform on April 13th, 2023.

On April 15th, I signed the first contract with Mr Robot ($1,000).

I need to get some data. Mr. Robot told me that he could help me get the data. Need me to sign up for his course. I asked Mr. Robot. How long can I get the data after registration? He told me it would take 20 hours. Then I transferred 1000 dollars BTC to Mr. Robot. We signed the first contract.

Then Mr. Robot sent me some websites to learn. I still can't get the data after a long time.

Then Mr. Robot told me that if I transferred an extra $5,000, he would personally get the data for me. Then I transferred 5000 dollars for Mr. Robot. This is the second contract ($5,000) I signed with Mr. Robot.

Then a long time passed. Data that I still can't get. Then Mr. Robot told me that he had 100% access to the data. He needs me to transfer another 2000 dollars. I asked Mr. Robot, and I transferred an extra $2,000. How soon can I get the data? Mr. Robot told me that he would get the data in 1-2 days. Then I transferred another $2,000 to Mr. Robot (this transfer was not signed in HF). Many days passed. It has been six months since the first contract was signed. But I still haven't got the data. I told Mr. Robot that if this project is too difficult to complete. We can change to another project. But Mr. Robot never replied to me.

I chatted with Mr. Robot through discord. I used DiscordChatExporter to export all the chat records. I can send all the complete chat records to the administrator (if the administrator needs them) to prove that what I said is true.

The purpose of my public dispute is not to recover the $8,000 I paid. And I don't need Mr. Robot to respond to me. Just to make public our real trading process.

Dorrance - October 13, 2023, 12:26 pm

$8,000 scam? What in the world.

Swip3r - October 13, 2023, 12:37 pm

Please post proof so everyone can see this loser scramble for money offsite lmfao

Cyam - October 13, 2023, 12:45 pm

Can't say I didn't expect this to happen eventually lol

Hack 1000 Wifi Networks a day , learn to hack for only $10

o god this will be interesting, he hasn't posted since aug 31

and for 8k people will just exit scam

why would anyone trust a dude like this without escrow or these free middle man services here

If Mr. Robot denies what I said. I think I will disclose the complete chat record.

Honestly, him going on vacation ban is sketchy, or just really shitty timing. I would imagine he knew this was coming, did you give him any indication you would be disputing?

Interested to hear what he says when his vacation ban is over.

Post those discord messages, can't hurt.

What time was his message? Include time zone, I am just trying to see if its when he self-banned.

He sent the message three hours ago.

Pretty sus, hopefully if he doesn't get this resolved, he will be closed.

I am sure Omniscient will be reviewing this at some point.

Better luck next time and always deal on site, using convo, with contracts and a MM for large amounts.

I'll take a deeper look into their account.

Thank you very much for your reply. I have a complete chat record and transfer record. I haven't made any changes. I can send it to you anytime if you need it. My purpose is not to recover the $8,000 I paid. My purpose is to hope that Mr. Robot can take this matter seriously. Even if he can't finish the task, he should explain it to me clearly. Instead of ignoring me. Six months is a long time for me. If Mr. Robot doesn't take this seriously. I think it is necessary for me to share my story with new users of the forum like me. If Mr. Robot can take this controversy seriously. I'll consider turning off the controversy.

Correct me if I'm wrong, but from what I've read, he only answered you off-site after the dispute has been opened, followed by a self-ban for six months. If he contacts you, it will be for more money.

For all those interested, Robot said to just dump all these.

Personally, I've got nothing to do with this situation, and I don't normally care about or waste time getting involved in things like this.

That being said, I certainly have a problem with the ethics involved in OP's line of work, so for all those interested here you go: [deleted] [warn]

So whatever MR robot tells you to do, you just do it? Even if it breaks HF rules? Sniff Sniff you smell that? That's your Lips on Mr Robot's dick. Fuck outta here. Also you have a issue with OP's line of work, but not the fact he took 8K from a random person, and you got no issues dumping shit on HF that is against the rules? L user.

If you've nothing to do with this situation then why are you typing on someone else's behalf? Never would I of imagined seeing the day where I can undoubtedly publicize that Mr Robot is a scammer, and you're just trying to cover for him

Maybe instead of dumping whatever he was working on, you can ask him explain why he's scammed this guy and then vacation banned himself for 6 months? Perhaps to avoid having to publicly respond and then hope that by the time he comes back, it blows over?

This makes me wish we could dispute the same contract more than once. If Robot did share info related to the deal and ask you to share information about the deal publicly, thats two more violations of the deal.

1. He should deliver the shit he took money for
2. He shouldnt share any info about it with anyone else
3. He shouldnt ask that person to share that stuff publicly

Mr. Robot was one of the biggest skids there was. All of his "I know how to hack" demonstrations were guides he took straight from Pastebin or the YouTuber called "Network Chuck". Dude literally just summarized videos he saw almost word for word.

Every time he would "claim" to hack something, it'd always just be one or two vague screenshots with no proof, no domain name, no video or reproducible steps, no defacing, refused to answer any questions, etc. Just straight up talking out of his ass.

I genuinely think he's a great example of "fake it until you make it". He set everything on his profile to be hacker-themed and set his profile name to be from a popular hacker TV show and everyone ate into it. Besides transcribe a few YouTube videos and release a few basic Python scripts, he has done nothing.

Omg, finally someone who see's what I see. All his shit was regurgitated from guides he summarized. He finally started making GitHub and coding projects with CHATGPT. All his releases were basic things ChatGPT did, and it was "I don't got time to finish it" He did not know how to program or hack. All he did was download database dumps and search emails. He never worked for a single thing he had on HF.

- He couldn't code.

- Couldn't hack things.
- Pretended to be a hacker/leet coder.
- Pretended to be a financial advisor to people
- Used public/semi private password dumps to do email lookups and act leet.
- Provided 0 services of actual value and worked for nothing on here.

He tried to get HF to be his own [censored]/Anonymous and told us at one point to manually flood a website with scripts, and if each of us do it we can make a impact. His kickstarter was absolutely fake, all he did was buy a custom water cooled pc with 3090 ti's with it. (Which was suppose to go towards development for his fake game) He sold %%'s of his fake company that he didn't have to people. He lied & cheated throughout his whole time on HF. His whole motto was about deceiving people and abusing trust. He MAY of donated to HF and been a supporter but he took a lot more than he gave. He was pretty much the biggest skid on the forum. Respect to OMNI for doing this, I never liked MR Robot, and it was hard to just "get along" with someone like this.

toterkerl - October 16, 2023, 3:44 pm

It sucks that this happened to you but I'm glad that guy got closed.

This could have been avoided if you had some level of security awareness.

For instance, when I saw Mr. Robot's thread, he stated that he can cover 36 topics in 50 hours with you. Does that not sound overly ambitious and unrealistic to you? It takes way more hours to cover all of those topics and learn it by heart. So IMO, that's a red flag.

Secondly, he claimed to be a cybersecurity professional. You could have asked him to provide his credentials and background experience just to see if he would furnish it or not. In the case he doesn't, he's probably lying.

Sorry you were a victim of social engineering but I hope you learned your lesson and will research on these types of attacks so you will not fall for it again. In a way, this experience albeit an expensive one is teaching you something.

Peace.

Yep, thank God someone else but me saw it from the beginning.

His kickstarter was a scam, he used all of the money to buy a nice PC build and flex it on HF; acted like he was the scariest hacker in town and that he was super rich from his game but was PMing users begging for money to help fix his wife's car even though a few months prior he was acting like a big baller with his Kickstarter.

Anyone with actual coding knowledge could see he was the biggest skid out there. He was the equivalent of those 2013 skids that got a booter / stresser for the first time and thought they were a part of Anonymous. That dude literally watched Mr. Robot, learned how to do "Hello World" in Python, and then posed as some mega-hacker.

His "game" was never released (not even in beta), he's never released anything more than a basic Python script, and hasn't done more than transcribe some YouTube videos. All he's done is donate to HF masquerade as a professional hacker and pulled off several $x,xxx scams before he was caught.

I called it YEARS ago that he was a scammer, and no one listened to me. What's funny is every single person except 1 that I've called a scammer has been closed for scamming. I'm 6 for 1 right now (and that 1 person has multiple deal disputes).

Here's me in 2020 calling him a scammer (and conveniently enough, he got closed for taking advantage of another new user, which is the exact same thing I called him out for):

How do you think I felt after I got banned for 6 months for "harassing" someone by opening a community alert on them and saying they are a scammer; and then a month after my 6 month ban ended, they got closed for scamming people. My 6 month ban was also like 2 weeks after I just paid for UB3R for 1 year. Lost out on half of my UB3R and wasn't allowed to use the only forum I care about for half of a year because I tried giving people a heads up.

Idk man you can tell someone's intentions from a fucking mile away on here. I never liked that guy even from my first interaction with him.
