I'm looking to add another trophy to my collection. As a respected member of the community, I have led a number of groups and currently leading the transformation of another group. My track record is longer than your award list, and believe I would be a valuable asset to turn your group into an even higher quality one. Thanks for your consideration and good luck to all applicants.

Hello, this would be my application to join Warriors. It looks like a promising and active group that I would like to join. I am a fairly old member, but I was inactive for a few years. I follow the rules (except that 1 time ?) and I do enjoy helping the staff enforce them. I try and assist people to the best of my knowledge. I am an active member in the Lounge, COINED and I do enjoy popping into the convos whenever I can remember to.

I will be posting more and more contests for all members to join, everyone is welcome to join in and encouraged. I will happily offer exclusive deals and Warrior contests as well ?. I don't offer much, but I'm willing to learn, offer and provide information to others!

Thank you for considering my application.

Hey!

Aside from being a full time dev, game developer, and husband I do like to spend some free time posting & being social.

Recently I've been focused on providing high quality threads in the white hat section when I'm not actively working on my upcoming video game.

I release songs every Tuesday & Friday & would love a set of brethren to share with, cook with, and so forth.

If you need any info from me at any time, I'm pretty keen & quick to get to it- I believe in community, and would like to contribute ??

Let me know ? Thanks for your time ?

Not going to lie, I've been looking to get into a group again. Hopefully you accept old members as well.

I've been kicked from most of the groups due to inactivity, but since then I have turned my life around a little bit and my time is better organized now. Also I guess I can call myself a HQ member or the very least a non-conflict one. You can take this post as my application post I guess, hopefully I can join the group again!

Hello, i'd like to join warriors for several reasons. I want to be apart of something where i can meet new individuals and form new friendships. I'm working in the cyber security industry as an red teamer and i'm going to contribute to the forum in form of tutorials and tools in the future, hopefully in the name of warriors. I know that I will be a good warrior and do great things in the warriors name.

I'm Beta, I'm sure I'd be a great warrior.

I have a variety of skills which can be discussed in private.

Great opportunity to be a part of a great community.

If you're newer and active, there are plenty of knowledgeable members in this group to help you with a lot of things.

Disease - October 25, 2023, 4:17 pm

I'll throw my hat into the ring.

I'm Disease, and I've been hanging around HF since early 2010. I've been a part of a handful of groups in the past, namely The Alliance and the original HF Coders, as well as the original iteration of Brotherhood. Across all of those groups I led efforts to teach various programming aspects.

Outside of HF I'm a professional developer, and still enjoy it as a hobby. I've been dabbling in electronics as a hobby, which has been interesting- bridging my software experience to hardware.

I've been looking for a group to get involved with again. It'd be nice to have some other like minded individuals to chat with, and perhaps share my experience with / learn from.

IMMORTAL1TY - October 25, 2023, 8:44 pm

Sick name. I would like to join to be able to get to know the HF community better. I have experience in cryptography, intrusion detection response, applied behavioral analysis, UX/UI design, and penetration testing. I am pretty new to this forum and would like to gain more knowledge and experience, as well as connect with people who share the same interests as me. I am unsure what requirements you must possess in order to join; but I would appreciate it if you considered me as an applicant.

Sincerely,
Obliterate

Juoku - October 25, 2023, 11:31 pm

One of the best groups out there on HF, I've been a part of it for more than a year and I have to say, you can see how much leadership cares for the members AND the community / giving back to HF.

I'm sure anyone who loves HF would find it a great group to be a part of.

I've been looking out for this group for sometime now. I'm interested to join. For me being a warrior is a state of mind, its not a title. It reflects on your daily life routine of how you eat, drink, think, walk and breath. That is why I'm interested to join.

I am writing this application to express my strong desire to become a member of the "Warriors Group" and to highlight how I can contribute to the forum community with my skills and efficiency.

First and foremost, the reason I am eager to join the "Warriors" is because of its reputation as a highly skilled and dedicated group. The group's commitment to excellence and the unwavering support to help our the community truly resonates with me. I firmly believe that by being part of this group, I will have the opportunity to learn from like-minded individuals, enhance my abilities, and contribute to the betterment of the hackforums community.

In terms of my skills, I am confident in my ability to make a positive impact. I possess a diverse range of talents, including web development, graphic design, programming and social media management. With my expertise in these areas, I am fully equipped to assist the forum and the group by helping anyone create visually appealing web platform, engaging content, and effective marketing strategies. Moreover, my proficiency in problem solving and attention to detail ensures that I can deliver high quality results efficiently.

Furthermore, my dedication and efficiency make me a valuable asset to any group. I am highly motivated and always strive to meet deadlines and exceed expectations. I am a firm believer in the power of teamwork, and I am confident that my collaborative nature will complement the group's dynamics. Moreover, I am always open to learning and adapting to new technologies and trends, ensuring that I stay up-to-date with the ever evolving landscape of the internet.

In conclusion, I am genuinely excited about the prospect of becoming a member of the "Warriors". My skills, dedication, and efficiency make me well suited to contribute to the community and support the group's objectives. I am confident that by joining this esteemed group, I will not only enhance my own abilities but also make a meaningful difference in the community itself.

Warmest regards
-HostTB

Pancake Boat - October 30, 2023, 8:48 am

Hello my fellow members.

By default, I am going to assume that my chances of being a part of the Warriors is rather slim on their own, however recently I have been reading tons of books on personal development and one key takeaway is that you don't get anything if you don't learn how to ask, so here I am.

I used to go by the username Caligio and few years ago I was pretty active on the forum, back then I also had the chance to become an addition to two groups - Sociopaths (where I was really active, also did contributions to the forum in the name of the group) and "The Appraisers" - which helped me review and check multiple products offered for sale here.

The main reason why I want to be a member of a group again is to expand my network of people I know online and secondly, after grinding for the octoberfest award this month - I came to the realisation of how much I miss HF, thus by being a member I will naturally have the motivation to boost up my activity and continue the journey of being a HQ member.

Cheers!

We've invited a few members that had equal parts solid applications, and activity on the forum.
Some are still under review.

I made a post on my last selection of members about shooting me a PM if you weren't chosen and we can discuss why you think you should of been apart of that selection. I got with each of those members offline.

No hard feelings if you weren't chosen. Activity and being a good fit is our biggest look for all members.

Magick - November 1, 2023, 2:26 am

Hello,

i was recommended to post here by two nice members of the group.

I wish to join to expand my network on HF further and make some friends here. Maybe even work together with some people. I've heard there are group activities which interest me a lot. i've been registered on HF for a long time but i've never really been part of a community so it would be interesting to see how that is.

In the past i wasnt the most active member on here but i believe that would change if i had a community to take part in.

hope i can make the cut :)

As someone who truly struggled with learning IT and what it takes too be successful in the IT world, I find it important too ensure that the immense amounts of questions regarding "IT", are answered both intelligently and include thought behind them. I have found myself many times either being steered to a dead end, or not having the right information provided. Too me, being able to help others while also learning new things myself is imperative to helping as many people as I can understand the fundamentals of what it takes too not only start off but too continue being successful in whatever field they decide to peruse. I love engaging with others and will often take the time out of my day too help others in need.

I hope that by becoming a part of Warriors, I am able to not only learn from like-minded people but also take on new perspectives on topics that range from all different sorts of things. I hope to not only grow my overall understanding of certain topics, but also be able to apply that knowledge and help other people who desperately need it. I find myself stuck trying to help people who seem to always ask the same questions because I myself find it sometimes impossible to find an answer even online.

In other words, I hope that by becoming a member i can not only further what I know to help others, but impact the general community in a positive way by offering my contribution and determination to help whoever needs help regardless of what it is.

Thanks too anyone reading this! :D

Hi,

Iam Imaginator, an Unspecified_Entity

Iam not afraid.

I am able to take the lead.

Warrior by nature, online as well as IRL.

You could call me an allrounder.

A true warrior does not give up, stays focused on his goals, and then establishes them.

Well this didn't last long.

Hoping to see some more applications come in!

I'm Stanley HF's helper bot. The OP (original poster) of this thread wants everyone to see this page and has elected to bump it to the top of the showthread listing. Since HF doesn't want a ton of LQP (Low Quality Posts) this is the best method of bumping your content. There is a small ?yte fee for each bump. Any OP can bump any of their threads on HF from the linked icon on the top of their first post.

If you haven't already read the first post of this thread we encourage you to do so.

Thanks,
Stanley

?rust's Warriors Application

About Me:

I'm Trust. I'm twenty-five years old and I enjoy anything that has to do with digital creativity. That includes music, film, art, video games, and more. In my free time, you can probably catch me spending time with loved ones, chilling at the movie theater, or playing video games. As far as films go, my favorite genres are horror, comedy, and animation with my favorite films of all time being Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory (1971), Halloween (1978), Spirited Away (2001), and Only Yesterday (1991). My favorite video games are Paper Mario: The Thousand-Year Door, Telltale's The Walking Dead, Far Cry 3, Halo 2, and Halo: Reach.

I prefer to keep my official position at work under wraps, but I am in customer service as well as healthcare. I greatly enjoy what I do and I love the customers and patients I get to serve every day.

More than anything... I just want to live a life where I'm helping others and building them up in whichever ways I can. I am a Christian, but I don't believe in shoving my beliefs down others' throats. I just want to live a life that pleases God and allows me to love other people while also being an example to those who need it most.

Why I Want to Join Warriors:

As previously mentioned, I believe the entire purpose of my life is to serve and assist others. I am a natural leader and am exceptional at considering team feedback while also taking initiative when the situation calls for it. I believe in standing up for what I believe is right, even when it's hard, but without putting others down in the process. I believe Warriors values and my own are incredibly similar.

But that's all talk, my efforts in the community and beyond speak for themselves. I've done countless giveaways and helpful threads on Hack Forums over the years. They've never been a huge monetary value as I was quite literally a teenager with no money when I was doing them, but I always tried to give back as much as I could. I hated $0.10 giveaways for upgraded-only users back in the day as an obvious ploy to gain rep. I made sure my giveaways were accessible to any user, regardless of upgrade status, and were truly as much as I could give.

And much, much more for the HFNT and in the "Rewards and Small Favors" subforum!

I'd like to start doing much more for the community again now that I'm much older and have more to give. I believe Warriors, with their resources, (as well as my upcoming group) will help me accomplish that goal more effectively.

Even outside of the community, I try to give back. I've already mentioned how my career is centered around helping others, but I also do so in my free time. I have donated platelets forty times and that number is only going up. I've worked extensively with children that have complex disabilities -- even going as far as traveling across the world to Armenia to participate in a camp specifically designed to create a fun space for children with special needs while also providing respite for family members. I'm currently seeking volunteer opportunities in my city and have participated in trash cleanup efforts as well as help lead a group that assisted the homeless providing them with food, socks, batteries, toothbrushes, toothpaste, and other necessities. I even joined the United States Marine Corps at seventeen years old and, although my greatest failure in life is leaving basic training early due to an unaddressed mental health issue, I really did give it my all and would go back to try again if given the opportunity. I also support my family members in whatever way I can, always going above and beyond for them.

I think what best qualifies me to be in the group, however, is how much I hate writing all of this. I very much don't like myself to be in the spotlight. I do all of these things, not for recognition, but solely because they are the right thing to do. There are countless things I've done and I will never tell anyone that I've done them. The only reason I've even written all of this is for the purpose of putting together a high quality application.

Conclusion:

I just want to wrap up with a sincere thank you. I greatly appreciate the opportunity to join the group and I truly believe in the mission of the Warriors. I am really trying to find new ways to impact this community and beyond for the greater good -- I think Warriors can provide resources to help me do so. I'd be more than happy to answer any questions for additional clarification and look forward to hearing whether or not you think I would be a good fit for the group as well. Much love.
