You can use hash-cat to do it. If you need free help related to it you can send me a convo.

Maybe he'll have luck with it, but hashcat doesn't have a matching hash mode.

correct, Tried Two workarounds, first equating the hash, the other was adding salt to it, both did Not work.

Thanks, not cracked this.

OP, post in Hash Bounties section of the forum if your offering payment.
Someone may give it a go, worth a try.

Tell you what. Upload the file here to get the hash. That tool is known to give properly-formatted output. Knowing the version of Adobe Reader that created it would also help.
