Thread: Have money - Need partner and Ideas

Grandmaster - October 22, 2023, 8:01 pm

I remember having no money and trying to find ideas that'd work starting from scratch. But the money isn't a problem now.
I'm searching for a partner that has ideas that they want to put into place, but may lack the funds to do so. Maybe even a project that's been started/completed and just needs some extra support. Really the only stipulation is nothing illegal. No drop shipping bs unless it's well established already.

So, I'm open to hear some pitches and how much you think we will need to get going. We can talk finances privately.
Message or post here to get in contact.

Just in case you were serious - this is me offering you a contract that legally binds a partnership between myself and yourself with full repayment clause section for your investment back over the course of (to be determined) amount of time and some other fun things along the way.

The offer has networking opportunity in the real world with physical venues and other artists as well as partnership/sponsorship deals with brands and companies for money / products / etc.

Sick one. Does he have to learn how to rap like Yezyy.
