Hello,

I need to get a list of specific numbers from a public database. The database will return a message saying the code is valid or not, if it is, it will also return some additional info. The number is a country code + 9 digits (e.g. XX123456789)

Since checking this manual would take ages I am looking for a script to do it. I would give it a list of possible numbers, it would need to put each one in, if it gets a return saying the number is valid it would list that number + any other returned info. That's it.

Could you make this? I can link the database but would prefer on PM.
