Thread: I was cheated in HF for more than \$20,000. Advice for newcomers.

Lukasi - November 3, 2023, 8:59 pm

I traded with many people on the HF platform, and the amount I was cheated has exceeded $20,000. Details of being cheated can be found in my previous threads. Here's my advice to newcomers.

1. Be sure to sign the contract on HF platform.

Whether you are dealing with new registered users or old users. Be sure to sign the contract on HF platform. When you sign the contract, the platform administrator will safeguard your rights and interests. If you are cheated, you can at least close the liar's account. This will prevent more people from being cheated.

2. Be sure to use a middleman.

Don't transfer money directly to the other party. This can not only reduce the probability of being cheated. But also can increase the time efficiency of task completion. If you transfer the money directly to the other party. A task that can be completed in one week may take two months.

Although $20,000 is not much money, it is enough to give some advice to newcomers.?

If you lost that much, you prob need to reevaluate how you do business.

pls link the thread here.

anyway i'm 100% sure that there are people lurking here that will contact you and attempt to scam you again.

same when i posted a thread here after being scammed around $1,400 .

2 people kept calling me in telegram and there's a guy pretending to be a user here that sent me a honeypot wallet .

$20k is a lot of money for me . be safe

Well I'm glad to see that you're taking marketplace trading more seriously now, $20k is nothing light to lose regardless of how much you have, it's still $20,000 at the end of the day.

And yes, PLEASE use a trusted MM here on HF for your future deals. You'll be amazed as to how quickly you start having successful deals, and in turn will also have a much more pleasant HF marketplace experience.

(Nov 3, 2023 09:36 PM)Motusora Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) pls link the thread here.

You can find them all in the Deal Disputes forum.

If I remember correctly, the guy was scammed by a famous Hack Forums member named, Mr. Robot. I'm not sure if you know the guys named but his profile was heavily decorated with awards and popularity.

This account has been giving me red flags since Mr Robot, he is contradicting himself, in the way he behaves. My advice to new or old members is to stay far away from Lukasi. Look at his history, he has a very high scam report rating. Sounds like scam-bating to me.

WOW, I never would have expected this from Mr.Robot

I used to see him around a lot.

Just goes to show, it's better to be safe than sorry.

My condolences for your monetary losses.

Who did I cheat? Who reported me for fraud? Can you find a specific person? Can you post his name here?

And most importantly, review the user's account before starting a contract.

This may be difficult for newcomers. Newcomers may be more concerned about prestige and registration time.

Might be better trying here: Buyers Bay

Is this for specific targets (specific devices) or indiscriminate (any within the China region)?

I read your dispute with mr. robot.. sorry to hear about your loss. $20k may not be alot to you, but it was obviously enough to make that clown throw away his whole reputation. The part that I don't understand in that whole situation, was why did you keep sending him money? Forget how long he's been here, and how many awards he has, after you sent $5k and didn't receive anything, that should of been a dead giveaway. Anyway, good to see you didn't allow that to stop you from coming back.

I hope that you find some prosperity in your future, that is a tough case. It sucks the lessons we have to endure on our journey, but I have found that as long as I am a good business man, I end up where I need to be, even if I do not get there as fast as I'd like.
