Thread: [Job Sponsorship for US VISA Application \[Looking for\]](#) deepdrey - November 10, 2023, 8:48 am

Hello,

I'm a foreigner. I travel to the United States frequently as a tourist and would like to stay longer. I work as a freelance web developer, but the tourist visa is quite restrictive regarding the time I can stay in the country and its justifications.

I am looking for a sponsorship that requests me as their employee, to be able to apply for a work VISA that allows me to be there, legally, for longer.

Anyone with any ideas? Obviously, I would pay for it.

Thanks.

Hey, I would suggest looking for jobs using US job websites and contacting the employer to see if they will sponsor your application.

I'm not in the US however i believe it may be similar to the UK.

Hi Ashley, thanks!

I already have a job. I just want to stay legal.

I'll keep searching.

I have searched for something but it is complex. There are many checks and getting married involves complex legal relationships.

Do you know any experience?

Thanks
