This was going to work as a watermark in an area where content stealing is rife. The final product was probably going to end up grayscaled. My lines are geometrically challenge, the symmetry/asymmetry balance is not where my minds eye has it at and the top looks a bit whack.

The idea is that the "world" originates in a spiral around the letters HC (which can be any font whatsoever) and into a globe.

HC is short for Healing Collected and is for my naturopathic work in the health/well being area.

Happy to share knowledge/services in exchange for anyone's time.
