Thread: Where can I find redeem codes for YouTube play buttons?

HostTeraByte - November 21, 2023, 11:57 am

Recently I have seen play buttons redeem codes are getting sold for $5-15 each on a forum. Unfortunately the website has a tor URL and now the URL seem to have changed. Been trying to find where they are getting these play buttons redeem code but can't seem to figure it out?

If anyone know how to get it then please let me know! I thought if you had a channel only then you can have a play button but that doesn't seem to be the case, you can use any gmail, put the play button redeem code and you can type any thing in playbutton name title and get it shipped from Google!

If they getting sold for $5-15 a piece then obviously there is some cheap trick else farming 1M or 250K subs organic will cost a lot more then $15 to sell for!

And ofcourse it's legit, one friend of mine got himself one from the vendor and received the play button silver $5 from Google thought UPS without having a YouTube channel at all!{

Wait, I haven't heard about this at all. What other forums are you seeing these be sold on?

Ive got a Youtube Play Button by myself for 100k Subs. After that i can request the code and get it for a free Playbutton. After that you can also request multiple more with the same name but it will be 150$ each. So i dont know how it should be generated.

I'd imagine in that case the "method" is probably something simple like changing the channel name then requesting another play button.

Yes for shure, but when you have to pay 150$ for each - how to sell the codes for 15$? And also i think the codes are generated from a specific Youtube account so it wont be possible for a Account with less than 100k Subs to redeem it i guess. But maybe its working if you invite users as Team member.

Edit: I know of course that paying the 150$ is not that big problem hehe.
