Actually there's also another guy that won 1 million too back then. I think he was the first guy and I am the second one.

Forgot his name was like 1 or 2 years back maybe I think it was last year 2022 or 2021.

That's not how it works.

It's random when issued. So there was no guarantee and actually very unlikely that you'd have gotten the $1m if you bought it before him.

When a Scratchcard is played, that's when it's placed into the database with the PLAY click action on the Scratchcard. Only then is it actually set as a winner/loser.
