?Description
Learning hacking is very diffucult. Unlike programming or any other thing you have to work really hard to get to know something. Because there are closed communities, not especially friendly to people from “outside”. A lot of people complained about it before they started the training. Almost everyone experienced rejection and almost everyone did not know how to make the first step. People just want to learn fast and good because of that we offer solid good information for beginners.In this video series you will learn various way of hacking. Our aim is teaching basics about Penetration Testing and ethical hacking in this lessons
