I LOVE winter, my wife hates it. As soon as I see snow I think of pond hockey, hot cocoa, and dark mornings.

This winter has been extremely mild so far. Last year time like this we had a lot of snowfalls already.

Can't complain though.

We've had 3-4 snowfalls here. Nothing that has stuck for more than 2 days. I personally like the snow. Would rather stay at fresh snow than a grey landscape and sky.

Not yet sadly, I would love it to though.

I love snow. Last year was the worst winter ever imo cause we got literally no snow. I'm hoping we have a blizzard or two this winter.

I heard we were going to get a late snowfall here in Toronto. Maybe Jan/Feb when it usually hits around -30/-40. I hope we can completely avoid it. I love watching snow falling but I hate having to drive in it cause others are so unbelievably SLOW.

No snow here yet, but it does snow around January. I personally can't stand the snow. It's nice the first day but the second and third when it's all iced over and you're slipping everywhere that's when I stop caring for it. Also can be dangerous to drive in if you aren't used to it.

i miss the snow, it's always a nice feeling seeing it come around sometimes after a few years

Godofcrypto - December 18, 2023, 6:30 am

No snow in my area, unfortunately, we will see lesser and lesser snow due to the global warming. We all have heard stories from our parents/grandparents for the tough winters they had decades ago.

weathers are changing right

As someone who lives in a state with frequent snowfall in the winter, I hate it more than anything. For some reason the next day it always rains and then that rain freezes and turns into ice becomes hell on the road and for anyone walking on the side walk
