So first of all the "Single Crypt" is a HANDMADE crypt, made by hand. Thats why its expensiver. You pay 500$ with the private startup method, since it comes with a rootkit that makes the startup entrys hidden.

Handmade crypts have a higher quality, least longer and work better, also come with other methods like the certification.

This crypter got a batch output while the manual crypt is a executable

Feel free to ask more questions

Have a great day!

Thanks,

Do you mind if I ask what rootkit you use? Most people use bytecodes R77.

Nope, its not a open source or leaked rootkit. But a selfcoded one in C++.

It got only the point to hide the startup, since the process is injected its hard to see that one. Same as the files are invisible.

R77 got many detections, its good but we use our own methods

Yeah, it does work with xloader. I'm a vendor on xss and exploit, and just came to hackforums, basically.

If you are really interested into purchasing and unsure if you can trust me, a middleman is of course accepted.

If you have any questions, feel free to ask. You are welcome!
