How many of you are Youtubers IRL?

Just wondering, don't need to reveal yourself, just with followers more then 1M?

I used to stream on twitch and run a few places, quit back in 2014...wan't big or anything, had just above 1.7k followers on twitch tho and got some 'ok' money n all but it got really lame and I kinda started hating it when it turned in to a "job"...so I quit.

Not me but I am looking to grow my rave TikTok and maybe eventually get somewhere with it.

How it became a job?

Got a contract with a company and well, they wanted me to stream 4 days /wk and well, always the same time etc...and well, my social life almost completely died because of it since that was the prime time to go out n so on, at least for "normal" humans with a 9-5 job. So yeah, set times n days, like a job, decent money tho but still, not enough for it to be worth it.

That's sick! €13k in 2014 is a lot
