Hello admin and stuff , and all my friend

So i was trying to view the site for the first time on my new tablet , and was surprised that it looks more better than the mobile view , actually it was my first time to see new-post icon , also site looked more easy

So i was asking if please you can direct more view and effort to mobile version ? Or may be a mobile app ? Will it be improved in new year upgrades may be ?

Thanx and hope you nice time

There's no need for a mobile app when the site has already been optimized for mobile. The reasoning behind not being able to have a HF mobile app has been brought up and debated time and time again. The best way for you to achieve HF in "app" form is to save HackForums as a PWA (progressive web app).

You can do so easily by following this tutorial - this will save HackForums to your home screen as if it was a regular mobile app and it will launch and act as such. You can do this with almost any phone OS and mobile/desktop browser.

Hope this helps!

Best experience for HF is desktop browser. We are a website, we are not an app. Unfortunately it's impossible to have the full desktop experience in a mobile platform. As you can see that even going to tablet improves the experience.

We've done what we can.
