Thread: Sourcing Unreleased music?

never2much - January 5, 2024, 3:24 pm

I would like to get unreleased music to listen to. I have social engineered but you can't really get anything good with it. I read the interview with propkers22 (a leaker) and he would hack producer emails and download the attachments. Does anyone here have experience and can give their 2 cents? I don't have industry connections so I can't really do it that way.

Good way to get recording contracts.

I'd love to source it myself aswell. I've always bought songs from others who sourced it. Gets kind of annoying knowing you could make good money and have better music if you just source them yourself.

Did you ever find more info on this?
