Thread: Any hot wheels collectors?

Popular - January 8, 2024, 4:57 pm

Just wondering if anyone here collects them?

They are fun to collect and hunt for rares.

I am currently working on a diorama scene its my first time..

I will post a pic of it soon.

Curious to see your collection!

DashPHP - January 9, 2024, 4:11 am

my nephew does haha, he's got a whole collection of them.

Charlie Sheen - January 9, 2024, 9:23 am

I didn't know there were so many collectors for Hot Wheels. A friend of mine had bought a bunch of the Hot Wheels NFTs back in 2021. When you bought the NFT they also sent you a car of it too. He got boxes of cars in then sold the physical cars for hundreds each on WhatNot auctions when he needed money a few months ago.

Jake Johnson - January 9, 2024, 10:39 am

I personally don't collect Hot Wheels. I did have a pretty decent sized collection when I was younger. However, being a kid they got used a lot and had a lot of wear and tear on them. When I was big into reselling about two years ago I realized how big of a market there is for hot wheel collectors.

HostTeraByte - January 9, 2024, 11:24 am

I have 79 HotWheels, now QL this Post if you collected the same as a kid. Still kept them in great shape until now!

Popular - January 9, 2024, 1:10 pm

Awesome feedback guys,
I will update post and share mine

HOMODIN - January 9, 2024, 1:43 pm

I can honestly say that I have been looking at hot wheels for some time now and just to see how it feels to buy them, well, I bought a bunch to kiddo and a few to myself too. The ones that are for me are for nostalgia and I try to get as much as possible that is still in the original boxes etc.

Yeah dude they're so fun to collect.

Hackers - January 9, 2024, 7:21 pm

I don't collect them and I don't know if I even have them anymore, but I had many as a kid. We used to have little mini race battles 20v20 cars between my brother and I. Sometimes there were tracks, other times no, just random playing around

Some of those would probably be worth tons if you still had them!

Rionxee - January 10, 2024, 2:46 pm

Dad collected them for me ever since I was born. I have about 5 tubs full of them in the garage.

Monero-chan - January 10, 2024, 4:47 pm

I'm pretty sure I have a bin just full of them somewhere.

You should definitely look thru them and see if any of them are rare now.

Charlie Sheen - January 10, 2024, 7:20 pm

What is it on the bottom of the cars that people look at before buying them? I see them inside of stores, they turn the package upside down and look at something on the bottom of the car. Is there a number or color that's supposed to be rare?

There is a treasure hunt logo behind the car where applicable.

Edit: There also will ALWAYS be a 'TH' on the car SOMEWHERE if so.

They also have a better paintjob/better wheels. Those 4 things combined certify that its a rare.

M1L3NK0 - March 16, 2024, 10:47 am

I have an okay collection, nothing too crazy and honestly I doubt anything I have is really rare. I used to have them all hung up on the wall in my old closet but don't have space to do that where I live currently.

This post inspired me to make some space to hang up the Hot Wheels again lmao.

Spoiler (Click to View)

Like I said nothing crazy, just some cars I find cool and some goofy ones like a wheelchair or Minecraft minecarts. Out of all the cars like 9 of them are Nissans.

Small collection but I love it,
'95 mitsubishi eclipse and black supra mk4 <3

V?rt - April 1, 2024, 7:47 pm

Just seeing this for some reason. I'm a HUGE Hot wheels collector. I had a whole wall covered in hot wheels, but I had to take it down because the cardboard was warping from heat and humidity. :(I have WAY too many hot wheels. I hunt at EVERY single store that I go to which is generally once a week.

Ayee thanks for sharing. I was skimming through the thread and until yours didn't see any pics of collections so was kind of disappointed haha. Glad to see at least one got shown off ?

V?rt - April 1, 2024, 8:58 pm

Here's most of my collection.

I still have some boxed up that are out of cardboard and then in the last picture. That's actually a giant box stacked like 4 high, so that's only the top layer.

Woah that is a solid collection! I use to love this stuff when I was younger, my Dad would keep some hidden so I didn't open it lol I remember the Toilet Car he had.

You got some nice old ones even in the boxes still, very sweet! Also do I see a Tesla Truck?? Haha ? Awesome. I've been recently seeing a few Tesla Cyber Trucks around my area. Look insane.

Yeah, If I really want to open one of them, I make sure to buy 2 lol. Love keeping sealed stuff.

That is indeed a cybertruck. That's like 1-2 years old already. Pretty cool

Thank you. Yeah, There were 2 releases of the holiday collection in 1998, One being the Porsche Sant, and another I believe a jeep or something along that lines. I found both of them in a thrift store and only bought the Porsche. Looking back, I wish I bought both.

Godofcrypto - April 2, 2024, 2:34 pm

I didn't even know there are people who collect them beside kids. I used to own many in my childhood but never anything close to collection, just random cars.

Do they actually make 1:1 models with real cars ? Back in the days there were only cars such as the Batmobile and with futuristic designs ?

I wish I had more of a vision towards collecting certain things when I was younger. To see so much of what was just the usual stuff back then now being so sought after and highly paid for, it would just be cool asf sitting on some stuff like that.

Like the trading cards such as Pokemon and Yu-Gi-Oh, they were worthless and now they are valued thousands.

Yeah the old trading cards like Pokémon, Yu-Gi-Oh, and Magic The Gathering are definitely part of what initially comes to mind for me. First and foremost because I used to collect the fuck out of all of those. Secondly because as you said, a ton of those old cards are with a fuck ton nowadays haha. Even if I had no intention of selling them in a case of having them still, it would just be awesome having them, seeing them, being able to show them off, and all the more so if in good condition.

Not many people know about Magic The Gathering, you are from the old generation, brother Demon ?.

That was years before Yugi and Pokemon, I just felt nostalgic for the good old days.

Yeah, me too. I got rid of all my pokemon cards whenever I was younger. Sold them for $50 and now they're WAY More. Lost my Yu-Gi-Oh cards at my grandparents house. :(

Hell yeah, MTG is another throwback haha. I wouldn't say not many know about it though. It was super popular back then still alongside Pokemon for instance and still is to this day, even more honestly. So much nostalgia in all of the card games for me though too no doubt.

I really need to buy one of those handheld swiffers from amazon or the dollarstore. Would make dusting so much easier tbh
