Thread: Big winds on East Coast

Hackers - January 9, 2024, 8:35 pm

The weather has been nuts. Warm, then snow, then rain, now very high winds. This is in CT

Not crazy crazy yet but lots of intermittent strong gusts.

Anyone else seeing storms tonight?

Deany - January 9, 2024, 8:38 pm

I love this kind of weather doe. Rain and wind ftw

It's been absolutely pouring outside here for the last 24+ hours. I got my generator ready just in case I lost power, which it only flickered some here and there. They had to close schools and I guess some schools have delayed openings tomorrow because of the damage outside.

My fiances family is up in altitude and they're being hit a bit harder but not much. I'm near water but above flood levels.

Few areas doing same. I work remotely, so same as

I should've taken a picture of my backyard. It was absolutely flooded. I felt bad for my neighbor because all the yards go down stream to the right. So all the rain from my neighbors to the left and mine made a river to my neighbors yard and it's horrible.

It is cold asf here, at late night and early morning i keep shivering

DashPHP - January 9, 2024, 11:47 pm

I live in the UK and mann the weather been moving crazy.

High winds, crazy rain.. and the worse part of it all... it gave me the flu lmao

This kind of weather brings illness, some kinda flu and colds for sure. You guys take care.

Godofcrypto - January 10, 2024, 12:31 am

Say hello to the global climate change, it is going to get worse in future.

I definitely believe that - hopefully only in few spots at a time, over long period instead of all at once & everywhere. exponential worsening of the climate is scary for anyone that knows numbers.

Gotta have more fruits rich on vitamin c to increase your immune system ?

We got hit with some snow yesterday. All the schools closed for the day even though the snow didn't start until later in the afternoon/evening. The winds then got to be 40+mph. We are supposed to be getting hit with more snow tomorrow through Saturday and the winds are supposed to be even worse then.

I'm surprised it's quite warm here in NY.

I remember I had a doctor tell me to take a few that I was deficient with and it was a pretty instant change with mood and stamina at work.

I actually just went outside again and it is warming up - I must have caught a big gust of wind earlier

Eran - January 10, 2024, 2:00 pm

The high winds make it feel like it's 5-10 degrees Celsius less than it actually is.

Spore - January 10, 2024, 2:22 pm

Fucking winds and rain were fucking us yesterday like we were a spider in the shower. We're from South Cackalacky

Monero-chan - January 10, 2024, 4:50 pm

I live on the other side of the country, haven't had anything crazy lately.

I remember back in the day, the house I lived in had this screened in front porch. I used to hunt this kind of weather down on the weather channel and get drunk on my porch during a thunderstorm. Was my favorite thing to do. Now I don't drink that much anymore, but I remember getting so upset when the weatherman would say something like this was coming and nothing happened.
