

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: I want to learn some beginner programming language

CallMePapi - January 17, 2024, 2:28 pm

Can someone give me some tips how to start coding and if someone has some free courses. I was thinking about learning python for first language

Mitnick - January 18, 2024, 4:04 am

Plenty of courses available, also google is your friend.

M?tt - January 19, 2024, 8:02 am

Codecademy has some amazing courses. I believe they are free, but you can only do so many in a day before you have to pay.

Codewars will help you develop your problem solving skills with code.

FreeCodeCamp is another free resource you can use.

MarkGold - January 19, 2024, 8:07 am

Learn HTML5 CSS then python java and the rest never pay to learn as most of things are free

Yodawarrior2 - January 20, 2024, 2:45 am

(Jan 19, 2024 09:07 AM)MarkGold Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Learn HTML5 CSS then python java and the rest

never pay to learn as most of things are free

Would put it the other way, learn python first and some languages like C/asm, and then maybe some web-oriented languages.

carl1234 - February 11, 2024, 5:02 am

Python is ok, or C language