Website: <https://osint.lolarchiver.com/>

This service is subscription-based. It's 12€50/month (or 140€/year) to access all tools. But if you only want Twitch & LoL tools it's 5€/month (or 40€/year)

This website is not new, it's been up, running and improving since 2 years. I don't plan on quitting anytime soon.

Two new tools are coming in the next weeks/couple months :

- Twitter Username history. Through a current Twitter username/id you will be able to fetch their username history from between January 2011 & January 2023.

You will also be able to enter any username and see who owned it in the past. This will be extremely useful in my opinion as currently some breached database (including the Twitter breach back a few years ago) only contain username/email and often these username are outdated as the user changed it.

With this tool you will be able to see who owned it and get the current Twitter user.

- Youtube comment history. This one is almost done, the rate-limit has been handled, I will store in a database all comments made by all users. Only on channels with over 300 000 subscribers. So if user A comments on Pewdiepie's video, it will be recorded. And you will be able to search messages from that user.

All of this cost time & money, and subscribing to my service also serves as a motivation for me to keep building new tools. I try to keep a very fair price in exchange.

If you want to add new channels to be tracked for the Twitch chat history you can send them to me in DM/email I'll add them.

If you have any issue I'm very reactive and flexible so just shout a DM and we'll work something out.
