What have you accomplished today?

I just got off a very good call with some clients. We're a day behind on some wrapups for the project, but we're already discussing the next phase of their project and 1 whole new project to kick off in February/March. I put together a slideshow this morning for the status call and it made me look good - usually I don't have time to do so, but had extra time to put it together this morning.

What are some of your Thursday Triumphs?

Well it's only noon where I am at and currently at work. Once I'm out go to the gym and than do some side jobs for extra $$$. I did just get a massive raise at work too.
