Thread: Favorite Youtubers / Podcasts

oscast - January 24, 2024, 11:52 pm

What are some of your favorite podcasts or YouTube channels? I don't listen to podcasts much, so whatever I get is from YouTube shorts and it's the bad friends podcast. Bobby and Andrew are hilarious. My two top YouTubers are A Jolly Wangcore who mainly does half life mod content and OfficialDuckStudios who do home video funny stuff. Just a few dudes being dudes.

I love AskHodgeTwins, they have a bunch of channels but I love their channel dedicated to asking them questions. I enjoy listening to Joe Rogan Experience and Smartless. I just started listening to Smartless a few weeks ago, those guys get seriously every celebrity on their show.

I listen to a ton of podcasts, especially in my native language, and I admit that I don't have one favorite.

However, if I had to choose, from the English-language ones I could mention Darknet Diaries and Hunting Warhead.

As for the channels on YT are: NetworkChuck, Null Byte, ChillFuel?

Here's a list of podcasts I've been listening to for the last year or so regularly:Lex Friedman Podcast (a lot of good techy interviews)

Huberman Lab Podcast (good overall information for life and taking care of yourself)

The Last Podcast on the Left (true crime, occult, etc...)

Darknet Diaries (I don't listen to this as much as I used to but it's a fantastic podcast about hacking and pentesting mostly)

Exit Point (a dedicated podcast about BASE jumping. Pretty niche but it was my most listened-to podcast last year.)

I used to listen to The Misfits Podcast a few years ago when I delivered pizzas. They're all YouTubers but I've never taken the time to go watch their channels, funny guys on the podcast though

I don't really have a favorite channel to be honest. As much as I'll hate to admit it, unless it's a full blown documentary, I can't sit through the 5-15 minute "hot take" videos, guides, etc anymore - I'll stick to Shorts on YT. The full docs are very HQ but while I used to really enjoy the medium length videos, a lot of times it feels like 90% filler and 10% content whereas the shorts are usually 100% content - although never as long as needed in many cases lol.

I only listen to 1 podcast, because my friends make it. They're talking about Techno. Very fun to listen to.

They live together so they do it from their living room. But it doesn't sound bad at all. And the topic is something that i'm very interested in so i'm a big fan!
