I don't know it's cool for writing books and shit? It's a good asset or skill to have

You know you can just make posts to get your PM or bytes for attachments, it doesn't have to be threads.

Anyway, what's your WPM?

NateRivers7775 - January 27, 2024, 8:41 pm

Ah I didn't know and 250-325

Damn that's crazy.

Fastest in the world right now with accuracy is barely 200.

NateRivers7775 - January 27, 2024, 8:46 pm

No way? I just don't believe that lol I always felt like I was the fastest typer in the world kind of doubt myself really.. but everyone has told me your like a machine gun when you type lol I'll have to post it someday, my computer teacher told me to use home row and told me not to finger peck but it's just how I do it. It's all natural to, from playing many games as a kid. I know where the keys are subconsciously, I don't look at the keys I just know where they are not sure if that makes it more interesting or not unless people do that already which I'm sure many do

Press the quote button when you respond to someone or they won't get the notification to know you responded.

NateRivers7775 - January 27, 2024, 8:58 pm

Quote reply you mean or?

Yep, it gives the notification at the top to whoever quotes you.

Just like you're getting when I quote you here.

NateRivers7775 - January 27, 2024, 9:00 pm

That's after I reply right?

Wow, not to hate but a WPM of 250-325 is almost hard to believe. Why such the large range? I've always been a fast typer with around 150-160 WPM.

He was just bragging and you'll never know if it's true or fantasy ?

I spoke to him it is actually true.

He wrote 150 words which he didn't time and then he said he was ready.

It took him 55 seconds to find control x and control v.

He cut it and then pasted it twice to get the 300WPM just in time. I was astounded when I watched it happen live.
