Thread: Number of replies in mobile version

Nemo5 - January 29, 2024, 5:05 am

Hello brothers,

please make it possible to see how many replies a topic has received in the mobile version without having to open the topic first.

Thank you

Nostre - January 29, 2024, 6:55 am

Turn your device horizontally and you'll be able to see not only replies but a lot more.

What's the branch thing on the side?

Popular - January 29, 2024, 2:33 pm

Not really necessary. Turn it sideways like said above.

Btw even if its only 1 reply, you're still going to open the thread to see.
So what does it matter..

Asked omni about things related to design on mobile, not more to expect, hf is mainly a website so better use desktop view for better effect

Nemo5 - January 30, 2024, 3:52 am

Thank you for asking omni, Jamika.

The problem is that when I try to switch to the desktop version, I always get the message:
"HackForums.net wants to verify that you're a human."
followed by a captcha that I have to solve.

Then you get this message:
"HackForums.net wants to verify that you're a human."

Checking whether the site connection is secure."
And then the whole thing starts over again but it doesn't switch in the desktop version.

My guess is that using Desktop mode on a mobile browser triggers Cloudflare security features.

I just tested on my phone and landscape mode still doesn't show replies. Screen still too small.

Not even space to add the replies column.

Fine, done.

You should now be able to see replies column in mobile view.
