Yeah it does, due to high carbonation rate and specific mcdonalds fountain unit machine.

not sure if it removes toxins, but it's definitely healthier than soda. it is just water with carbonation after all, sometimes with flavoring. tastes better too and is more refreshing.

tony73 - February 1, 2024, 12:03 am

It's got to be full fat coke in a glass bottle totally different taste to plastic bottle and cans of coke

M1L3NK0 - February 1, 2024, 1:28 am

I liked Coca-cola a lot when I was younger. Became Type 1 Diabetic during my very early teens and switched over to diet sodas, don't have to worry about insulin with those. Diet Dr Pepper would be my favorite now.

I do love root beer and cream sodas too.

Biggs - February 1, 2024, 1:59 am

Never liked coca cola or any other cola brand to be honest, I'd prefer some icetea or just water.

I reduced mine to once per week, that shit is too addictiveit has that chemical in it.

?ystem - February 2, 2024, 12:29 pm

I tend to find myself going for a can of Coca-Cola, if I'm in the mood for soda. Although, I've been doing my best to minimize my sugar intake the last year or so, for health purposes.

Blora - February 6, 2024, 10:21 am

I don't like Cola. Pepsi Max is the only valid drink, in my opinion.

Of course. Pepsi Max has a sweet taste, while I personally think that cola has a more bitter taste. Might just be me, though.

Broheim - February 6, 2024, 12:49 pm

I don't drink that much Cola.

When I get an inexpensive rum, I mix rum with regular Coca-Cola and fresh-squeezed lime juice.

I'm not a big fan of cola if I'm going to be honest. I prefer sierra mist or starry.
