Thread: I think I'm famous, globally.

Yes it is coming to my mind every so often now, since I visited a nearby town recently, I don't often venture out, but it seems like everyone knew me/had an ear piece in/was well connected somehow, I don't know. But yes... I guess it's obvious I'm famous? I don't know. Doesn't feel like it, then again, maybe it does. Lol

I guess only time will tell... I hope in this life, as I don't want my primary being to be this human in the next life, and as this human right now, as I am me, I have to want closure, truth, and happiness, for me, this human.

I guess I'm waiting for a miracle. But I don't know what. I feel like maybe the whole world could hate me to the point of wanting me to be some sort of sacrifice, for things they've manipulated me to say, and ways they've brainwashed me to be.

I know I'm good, and God should be on my side, and so should any real visitor of this website.

I forgot to mention I guess a big point is I've been in awareness all celebrities can see me and I'm being hacked by the government for pretty close to 8 years now I think. But yeah...

I'm a cripple, fucked up, teeth gnashing, fleshlight fucking failure. But I'm still here and I want to die happy. Amen? Don't we all? I am blessed, more than anyone I believe, to be me, but... I can't establish anything real, and I don't think I want to, with this science on me. And so on...

Anyway, what are your thoughts? Are aliens in touch with me? Or am I one? Where did Alex go?
