Hey there. I was curious if anyone here has been playing or has played Tom Clancy's Ghost Recon® Wildlands?

I began playing it in offline mode with missions in January 2023 (it's been a year), and I'm still around 55% through the game. Nowadays, it's quite time-consuming, and time has become the most precious commodity for me. I don't seem to have as much time to play games as I used to. I think I'll need maybe 2-3 more months to finish it completely. I truly adore that game and really want to complete it. It's such an amazing game.

I used to play it pretty often when it came out a while back on PS4. I did look into it again last year and the first person mod looked incredible and changed the way how you play the game. Never got back into it to buy it on PC and install the mod though.

I was unaware of the first person mod until now! After watching a YouTube video, it seems quite impressive. Thank you for sharing this information.

I really enjoyed it.

I didn't have much complaints.

I remember really enjoying the game when it first came out. I played a fair amount with a friend or 2 and then a ton by myself, especially to clean up random shit to get all of the trophies. The game did get tedious in ways as I feel like is sort of to be expected with a game like that, but it didn't bother me for the most part. I guess maybe I hadn't played a game like that in a while or I simply enjoyed what it had to offer core gameplay wise enough that I could overlook other things like that.

If you're not familiar, they came out with another after that seemed right in the same vein as that first one, called Breakpoint. Maybe look into that whenever you're all done with Wildlands. If you loved that, you'll surely love the new one as it seemed VERY similar gameplay wise and just how it all works, what it has to offer, etc.

Yes, I had planned that after I finish Wild Lands, I will get into Breakpoint. Thanks for sharing.

No problem at all, happy to do so ?

Good to hear about Breakpoint too. I hope you continue to love Wildlands like I did and also can do so with Breakpoint for the both of us since I never got into that one.
