Thread: Youtuber cuts his dad's head off and displays it online.

The Pact - February 1, 2024, 5:15 pm

In the YouTube video, which was titled "Mohn's Militia - Call To Arms For American Patriots" Pennsylvania man Justin Mohn is seen wearing gloves and holding his father's head in a plastic bag. Later, the head can be seen in a cooking pot.

In his YouTube videos Mohn says his father was a federal employee for the last 20 years which he said makes him a traitor. He talks about how he hates Joe Biden's administration, the Black Lives Matter movement, and the LGBTQ community.

YouTube removed the video, which is more than 14 minutes long, many hours after it was posted once it was discovered that he had shown his father's severed head in his last video.

edited: Please note... re the title that there wasn't room to put "allegedly" in the title, but he has not been convicted of "cutting his dad's head off," and although he displayed the head online, whether he actually cut it off or not is still only alleged since he is innocent until proven guilty.

Holy shit... did the guy have a schizophrenic break or something? I couldn't begin to imagine how someone would even get the idea to do this in their head.

V?rt - February 1, 2024, 6:09 pm

That's INSANE!!!! The things that happen and are displayed now a days is crazy.

It's my understanding that he was arraigned and denied bail at 4am this morning in Pennsylvania, and no one knows yet.

Truth - February 1, 2024, 6:36 pm

"The suspect's mother, Denice Mohn, found his father's body and called police around 7 p.m. Tuesday" what the hell did these people raise... granted he is a grown ass man at 32 y/o but seriously...

stuff like this makes no sense at all. at least he is arrested now and hopes gives the details on wtf happened smh

Lindros - February 1, 2024, 8:14 pm

Not surprising this gets wall to wall coverage, but some black criminal murders multiple white people in a horrific way and the media buries the story.

I'm a dark individual. Anyone know where this video could possibly be found?

3oxic - February 2, 2024, 9:25 am

Why this things happen very frequently in the US?

(Feb 2, 2024 10:25 AM)3oxic Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why this things happen very frequently in the US? Mostly because of diversity. Street gangs, violent crime and occasionally, in this case, angered and deranged locals who are at their literal wits end.

All of Europe, North America, New Zealand and Australia headed in this same, disgusting direction.

The pathetic and treasonous governments, of course will take more bribes and pass "hate speech" laws that prevent people talking about the real issues, so unfortunately the problem is likely to get much, much worse.

Its absolutely crazy that internet obsession can drive someone crazy to the point they murder people.

The Pact - February 7, 2025, 12:13 am

This week, Justin FINALLY appeared at a court hearing on charges of first-degree murder, abuse of a corpse and possessing an instrument of crime with intent in the killing. He wore a grim smirk in his police mugshot.

And there isn't really any more information except for the media telling us that Justin filed three lawsuits against the federal government over his student loan debts, claiming negligence and fraud over the government "pushing" him to take out loans for his bachelor's degree earned from Penn State.

And then they go and advertise his self published books? What? I'll only say that one is called "Poems I Wrote While Stoned."

Jesus, sounds like a completely delusional person. This is the danger of the propaganda in our media. For example trans is roughly 0.4% of our population, but there are people "scared of trans". It's pathetic.

We live in a pussy culture where people get frightened of non-threatening concepts, justified by hatred and retardation from certain groups.

This leads to crazy shit like this where the propaganda propagates into even more hatred, resulting in decapitation I guess in this case specifically.

What a sick individual. You can tell just by his beliefs that he was incapable of critical thinking, reading comprehension, research, or separating fact from fiction. It's not that surprising he ended up killing for his beliefs because that's the kind of thing that happens when people are brainwashed into believing in verifiably false information, engineered to spread fear, hate, and disgust.

I have used federally legal THCA which is basically the same thing as THC because THCA is the precursor to THC and when THCA is heated it turns into THC, I stopped using it because it caused me some anxiety as well as chest pain.

I also know people who use THC in states where it is legalized for recreational use and I hate to say it while it offers a lot of medical benefits and while people should be able to legally use it for personal use it does in fact have the potential for negative mental health effects.

THC can cause paranoia, anxiety, depression, psychosis and schizophrenia. And it just so happens that I know people who are long time THC users who have developed some of these conditions.

There is a big problem of denial in the THC community, they deny it has any negative effects, they deny that it causes lung issues and heart issues, they deny that it causes these mental issues when it is all well documented and proven that it in fact causes these issues.

I am all for decriminalization and for it to become federally legal for personal use but let's not live in fantasy land and pretend it is harmless.

Yeah, it's pretty well established that if you have certain genetic tendencies that THC can cause psychotic episodes.

Well if that was his defense lawyer they have to try something. It would be true that they didn't have the ultimate proof of him videoing the beheading part and uploading it to YouTube.
