

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Adhd & Autism

Cottoncandy - February 3, 2024, 9:19 pm

People with ADHD often have what's known as "Hyperfocus," a state where they become deeply engrossed in a task, sometimes to the point of losing track of time. On the autism spectrum, individuals might have "special interests," intense and focused passions that captivate their attention and knowledge. Both showcase the remarkable and unique aspects of how minds work in the neurodiverse spectrum.

Are you autistic?

Jamika - February 4, 2024, 1:26 am

I know well about this, my son is and i find him special, he when have interesting thing focus well in it ?

acrobaltic100 - February 4, 2024, 1:46 am

Well I have adhd and if i eat medication i have laser focus.

If i dont eat it my mind is everywhere. I can gather my self to focus on the task at hand without medicine tho, since i never eat it

Euaggelistes - February 4, 2024, 1:10 pm

I am not autistic. I am not autistic. I am not autistic.

But I do focus.

Fludems - February 4, 2024, 2:37 pm

It's also worth noting the comorbidity rate between ADHD & Autism is somewhere between 40-70%

ubas - February 4, 2024, 7:57 pm

(Feb 4, 2024 02:10 PM)Euaggelistes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I am not autistic. I am not autistic. I am not autistic.

knock on wood! keep up those manifestations lol

Blora - February 6, 2024, 10:17 am

Yeah, it's true. I have ADD and autism, and these perfectly fit in with me.

anoncrab - February 6, 2024, 10:07 pm

I used to be mildly autistic but took medications for like most of my childhood life and now it's pretty much entirely gone. Not the ADHD and bipolar though. ;)

Monero-chan - February 7, 2024, 1:23 pm

I was diagnosed with both at a young age, so I can confidently say that you are correct in those regards. I will hyperfocus on my special interests and give almost no interest to things I do not care about at all.

Deany - February 7, 2024, 11:39 pm

I defo got something if I'm into Japanese robots ya dig?

disc91 - April 18, 2024, 8:27 am

Yes i think im autistic.. my emotion are too strong than other pple