

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: do forum communities still go to war?

drugs - February 5, 2024, 3:54 pm

Memories pouring in of forums being DDOS'd, hacked, and defaced by enemies of other forum communities.

Does this type of stuff still go on?

Dag0bertDuck - February 5, 2024, 3:57 pm

maybe silent. but i can't really judge but i would think depending on who it is it could happen. but to admit it publicly would be stupid

ubas - February 5, 2024, 5:11 pm feel like discord/reddit have become defacto places for those sorts of warring, active communities in the modern day

anoncrab - February 5, 2024, 11:18 pm

Definitely. I know several hacking forums that have leaked each others databases, doxxed, etc.

Don't know if I can mention which ones because of the rules, but yeah this shit still happens, just more rare.

Eran - February 6, 2024, 4:04 am

I stay away from forum drama but I'd say it's less often nowadays. And it's done behind the scenes.

DashPHP - February 6, 2024, 4:11 am

Not something I've seen in recent time tbh so I think it's died down.

Jamika - February 6, 2024, 4:18 am

Never joined that wars before, neither seen any forum do this too drugs - February 6, 2024, 8:28 am

(Feb 6, 2024 05:18 AM)Jamika Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Never joined that wars before, neither seen any forum do this too

It was a while ago. My memories are from PS3 days when people were hacking Call of Duty. There were several forums that had drama and you would come across a community that had their website defaced with Matrix-style graphics and a message from the people who hacked them.