Crypto Faucets – remember those? Back in the day, I used to grind them like there was no tomorrow. But lately, I've been feeling the itch to dive back in. Are Crypto Faucets still a thing, or are they just relics of the past?

I'm curious to hear from those of you who've been keeping tabs on this space. Are you still actively using Crypto Faucets? If so, which sites are you frequenting these days? Any hidden gems or tips for those of us looking to rekindle the flame?

Let's reminisce about the glory days. Also Share your thoughts, experiences, and recommendations below – let's embark on this journey together!

I did faucets when I first heard of crypto. Was a nice way to earn some Bitcoin when you have 0 knowledge, but honestly, the whole crypto scene improved so much that faucets just aren't worth it anymore. You would need weeks just to hit the minimum withdrawal and afaik, most faucets these days don't even pay anymore.

You're better off finding another way of earning some money online tbh.
