Thread: Need 2 more interviews

CaptechPhD - February 12, 2024, 10:57 am

I am so close to completing my data collection for my current dissertation study. I am hoping to do 2 more interviews with individuals who have engaged in hacking activities for which they were not authorized (not red team hacking).

Participating in my research involves one interview. You can remain ANONYMOUS. I am not collecting any personal identifiable information. We can do it on the platform of your choice. The questions are focused on how you got involved in hacking and not on your specific hacking activities. I am interested in identifying the pathways that lead to hacking - whether that be personal life experiences, involvement in gaming etc. There is no risk to you.

If you are willing to chat with me, please reach out. You can reach me here[deleted]

Let's talk. [warn]

I can't really help you out with that as I don't engage in that kind of stuff but hopefully you can find someone to help you out

Good luck on finding people who you want to interview. I sadly can't help but hope you find someone who can.
