twomad was found dead at his apartment by the LAPD after a wellness check. the police believe he overdosed as narcotics were found at the scene. his chaotic editing style and humor stood out to me since he wasn't afraid of being obscene (some of his merch included "N-word passes," laminated cards). he was recently caught in controversy over a year ago for allegedly sexting underage fans and attempting to kill other youtubers while high, but I don't know the legitimacy of those claims.

may he rest in peace

I've never heard of this guy until reading a tweet from Belle Delphine about him. I google him and apparently he sold ebooks on HF when he was a teenager according to his wiki.

I never had seen any videos of him or heard of him, but he had over two millions subscribers on YouTube. RIP, just a good reminder not to do drugs

Here's time stamp him admitting he's a HF member

The most perfect explanation of an ebook.

Thanks for sharing, RIP.

I feel like the pedophile claims are probably not true, and were made up to make people not care about his death. Hope his family finds some peace.

Used to watch him all the time back in 2020. So sad. It's a shame he went so far downhill in the end. Drugs suck.

Friend told me about him, mentioned this tweet though,

He actually mentioned in the video that he sold e-books that actually didn't make any money but made him money. Nothing has changed haha

Pretty shitty for people to claim he's a pedo if he wasn't.

If he was a pedo, fuck him and glad he's gone.

What drugs was he taking and how do they know it wasn't a suicide?

I was going to make a joke but that would make me no better than him.

The guy obviously had some kind of issues, dark humor on social media. I'm not going to make any assumptions or comments because I had no clue who he was until now. Rest in peace to him, even though he made mistakes.
