Thread: UPS/USPS Shipping Labels and Warehousing Services \(US Only\)

Poster Boy - February 16, 2024, 11:27 am

Not planning to do a fancy thread but thought this might be a useful service for some folks on here.

If anyone's shipping products within US, I could help with discounted UPS/USPS labels to help business owners save on shipping costs. Labels are going to come directly from my own business account where we get special rates for virtue of running a logistics company. So this isn't any of those methods or tricks that I'll be using, its 100% legit.

Apart from this, we have warehouses in NY and Orlando where I can offer space for storage too.

So essentially, this could help not only existing businesses but people wanting to setup new drop shipping ventures too.

Depending on monthly shipping volumes, can help out with best quotes and potentially share my APIs too.

Happy to answer any questions!

What an awesome service for you to provide!

What is a cost example of standard 4x6 bubble mailer?

Very interesting service. Glad this isn't another one of those 'methods' for getting cheap shipping.

Can you send me price quote for a 6 x 9 bubble mailer that's roughly 5oz? Also, interested in knowing shipping rate for a 9" cube box that weighs about 7oz.

Do you have discount on stamps?

I'm about to start selling on eBay, I'll need your services. how is this done? I send you shipment amusements and you send the price for the shipping label?

Interested in both services.

Do you own a website or have a platform for your customers so they can do auto-management?

UPS Premium Ground for a 2-3 lbs packet would be $12 approx.

For lightweight service, I only have USPS as an option where my contract requires me to handover my shipments at JFK only. I guess this would only work in a situation where someone can handover the packages at our office in NY.

I'm afraid not.

Yes, I believe that should be fine as a starting point atleast.

I have a website but that only works for international shipments right now.
If I do see enough traction from local US clients, I might just whip up a small portal and link the APIs so folks can generate labels instantly.

How big of a discount are we talking? I need to ship something oversized.
