QOTD: What type of activities do you enjoy most during a long holiday weekend?

Tbh, I don't really do anything even on holidays.

Usually gaming or surfing the internet nothing more

Sleeping in, if I'm able to sleep at all. This weekend we are going to a resort/hotel for a couple days with family. I'm really looking forward to it. I wish I was more productive on my weekends, but lately work has had me so swamped that all I want to do on my days off is absolutely nothing.

Whenever I travel or go on holiday, I tend to do a lot of reading.

It's hard to relax when you have work and day to day life, but when on holiday, my mind is more at rest, and I can do the things I enjoy more.

Taking walks in the city, clubbing or just chilling at home

Coding/gaming/doing crafts.

Seeing the family, usually sacrifice sleep from working night shift to do that.

Or go to the gym.

I usually just put on a show or play games.

Gaming with the homies, as its one of the few times that almost everyone can get on together.
