I think this is what you're referring to - <https://hackforums.net/bimages/featured-example.png>
They appear under the forum name as a featured thread.

A banner is an advertisement for your thread, varies in size, it's viewable by all members that are not upgraded.

Go here for advertising purchases - <https://hackforums.net/misc.php?action=help&hid=25>

Keep in mind that you need to be upgraded here to post in the marketplace. If you are trying to advertise a website link to your service, you need to be an approved vendor.

Also check the sig market if you're looking to buy some advertising.

How many new people's threads do you think you've posted on?

You need to be upgraded to do that

In my experience a feature is the worst thing to invest in, and a sticky is worth the most.

I bet a feature anchored on the landing page for the site is worth more than what I paid for though.
