Thread: Fiver - Dropshipping E-commerce 6 Figure Income **

Snoctriz - February 22, 2024, 1:08 pm

Greetings,

I was curious if anyone on this platform took advantage of the drop-shipping fiver services that people offer? Does it really grant you access to a 6 figure lifestyle or is it cap? Some of the services range from 200-500 USD and they will build you a fully functional drop shipping site with 50 winning products. Has anyone done anything like this and does it work? Let me know because I would love to pay for services like this.

regards,
Snoc

I don't know a lot about drop shipping but from what I've seen others say I would imagine the site and product list is only a small portion of your cost and what will generate your business. What really determines the successfulness of your website is going to be advertising.

There are some successful people in the bragging rights section that drop ship. Others claim it's saturated and dying.

I've looked into a lot of drop-shipping things. Most of them are highly-oversaturated by the time they get to you.

The business is viable from the sense that people will buy, but you'll have so much work ahead of you to get your products noticed over other people who already have been established.

If you can get the traffic, you might be alright. Otherwise, you're flushing your money away.
