

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Pegasus course\tutorial

A4RM4G3dd0n - February 23, 2024, 9:14 am

I recently heard about the Pegasus NSO malware, which i think is really cool. I'm soon to be a student, and i want to show off my hacking capabilities to other students by hacking their phones (with their approval of course). Can anyone point me to a good practical course about the NSO Pegasus malware? I can't seem to find one myself

Ph4n70M Phr34K - February 23, 2024, 9:21 am

Well, this is not serious thread.

Pegasus is a very sophisticated malware. Its development required significant resources and expertise in many fields. It uses Oday exploits which have not be discovered and documented.

With that being said you won't find a "tutorial" that guides you trough developing such tool.

DramaKing - February 23, 2024, 9:32 am

(Feb 23, 2024 10:21 AM)Ph4n70M Phr34K Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well, this is not serious thread.

Pegasus is a very sophisticated malware. Its development required significant resources and expertise in many fields. It uses Oday exploits which have not be discovered and documented.

With that being said you won't find a "tutorial" that guides you trough developing such tool.

I have actually seen the Pegasus zero-click 0-day in iMessage explained. It was patched as far back as iOS 15. However, the NSO Group is not going to sell it to a student, even if you had the $500k lying around.