Ready to turn your unused internet bandwidth into passive rewards?

? ? 5,000 FREE bonus \$GRASS ?

What is 'Grass'? ?

Grass rewards you for your unused internet. Installing Grass takes just a few clicks, and once installed, you will be rewarded in network ownership for contributing your unused internet to the Grass network. The Grass team is committed to internet privacy, creating a better network, and taking back control of our bandwidth that large corporations are stealing and using for free. In exchange, Grass rewards its users with ($GRASS) tokens (measured in points).

Part of a Better Network ?

What makes Grass so important is that, for the first time ever, network ownership is in the hands of individual users like you and I. Grass gives us a real influence in the internet economy and an easy way to participate in the growth of AI. This is a shift from existing tech giants, where users do not have direct ownership in the products they use or get rewarded for training AI.

Privacy Protected ?

Grass is committed to your privacy. Your data is safe, and you're in control of how much bandwidth you share. They'll never interrupt your internet connection or use more bandwidth than you can allocate. Grass is a promising project with a clear roadmap, goal, and remain transparent throughout.

Passive Income ?

Just install the Grass extension or for boosted rewards, the desktop (2.0X points) or mobile app (3.0X points) to start earning. You'll instantly start converting unused bandwidth into points, which can then be exchanged for ($GRASS) which is now LIVE (Q4 2024):

They do have CA / USA blocked for the eligibility tracker but many have reported using a VPN works just fine.

Why would I want to earn their points when it amounts to nothing? Do they have their own blockchain, are they listed anywhere on the market. Until, they have a clear cut monetisation plan or payment system. it's like calling anyone to hackforums on the basis of promising they will earn bytes but not actually for what value it offers them. This is like investing in a MLM scheme. Dont waste your time, this is not a working business model.

You clearly have no idea about the project and it shows. If you knew anything about it at all, which this information is very easy to find, you'd realize they have their own SOL token and scheduled airdrops, a public roadmap, as well as you can now see the dollar value of your earnings. They're making the conversion from Epoch earnings to Grass token available soon. Should take your time to do some research before making posts, it'll save you some time and possibly embarrassment.

From what i picked from their wesbite: Listen, we know you have extra bandwidth to help us train our LLM for AI, in return you get to be a part of A.I Revolution. No talks of monetisation, or airdropping tokens like you mentioned. There are many tokens online that dont end up on a blockchain and stay live as currency with no actual value. Just giving a heads up to you. Good luck with the project.

I encourage you to learn more about the project before commenting. Reading the H1 title of their homepage doesn't make you knowledgeable.

Can you name any one cryptocurrency exchange platform where their $GRASS token is listed? Sorry to break your bubble but you are the product here. I believe I'm barking up the wrong tree, incase you're the founder of this project.

Not sure why you're getting so agitated, you're just proving your ignorance. Sorry to break your bubble but the project is still in an incentivized closed alpha. It's not even listed nor is it even a token yet. Things take time, there will be a total supply of 10 billion tokens with 10% set aside for the scheduled airdrop. They've just recently accumulated massive investors like Polychain. Do your own research, just making yourself look silly.

edit: thanks for bumping my thread so much

You should join their community server and also read their FAQ.

I believe you need a certain amount of Grass in order to be eligible.

You may also be facing the same issue a lot of us are, in which your specific area has regulations against airdrops and such - in that case, use a VPN and switch to a different country to check your eligibility.

You will only get an airdrop if you've been going at it for longer than a week though I believe, pretty sure you need to be part of X amount of epochs.

I'd definitely look into it and get some more information from the server and members.

Still in closed alpha, generally you want to accumulate as much as possible before the scheduled airdrop.

The amount of Grass you have will reflect the amount of token you'll receive from the airdrop.

Not a terrible airdrop or claim for running something in the background for a few months.

Depends on how many of the Epoch's you participate in, a lot more rewarding if you got in on it earlier and accumulated a few referrals.

<https://grass-foundation.gitbook.io/grass-docs/how-to-guide/grass-points>

Good performance so far, ATH's of $3.00+

Yeah, I highly doubt S2 rewards will be anything like Season 1 especially with the sheer amount of people that are trying to jump into now.

I wasted most of my time for hamster combat finally got shit from airdrop. Nowadays most airdrops are scamming people.

Like whats the value. How much is it making.

I got unlimited access to bandwidth, whats the profit and the downsides

Roy Gary - May 4, 2025, 9:18 pm

I can confirm Grass is legit. Paid nearly $50 in October if I remember correctly and I used it to buy an Amazon GC. Only thing is I think the user network is too saturated now.

If you do and of these Node type airdrops, look on the web for user created farming scripts that require a VPS and residential proxies to really up your earning potential. They're usually on GitHub.

If you do Grass or Nodepay type of projects, look into GitHub scripts that require a VPS and residential proxies. You can run so many nodes on different IP addresses on the same account usually. just make sure you get a high quality residential proxy.

Doesn't work, will get you banned from earning within months especially more recently. Botting is being cracked down pretty hard lately, I've lost a lot of referrals just from the referrals doing the exact same, resulting in my referral earnings taking a significant hit after the bots get smacked.

Oh_Well - October 9, 2025, 5:20 am

I have a grass account and was using it a few years back but I forgot about it because it had major issues with their dashboard and connectivity.

How is that now? Did they fix it?

Palestine - October 22, 2025, 1:22 pm

This seems really interesting I gotta read more into it before I even consider trying something like it thanks though

RiveR29 - October 30, 2025, 3:19 am

Yeahh tried that but it is only worth it if you have multiple computers in different networks. And the payouts are quite small, none the less it is a good way to make small side money with your internet connection. So if you are not wanting to get rich but maybe use the funds for buying something in a game etc that maybe worth your while.
