Today a bum walked up to me and asked for money. I told him that I don't carry cash. I don't like talking to people often lol

I've seen bums whip out those mobile paying machines before. Absolutely ridiculous.

I live in a small town so I'm pretty frequently talking to new people. It's interesting because I felt a lot more alone in a big city.

I met a guy at the bar last weekend and we talked about MMA. I kept calling him Bob because I couldn't remember his name. Cool guy and all but I was glad when he had to leave.
