

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Time is relative...but ever feel like time went by too fast?

?-Elision - February 26, 2024, 7:02 pm

Seems like the past 5-6 years have just flown by...2017-18 seems like it was a year or two ago. Time seems to have flown by too fast and things seem to have taken place at a very very swift pace..anyone else relate to this? Perhaps on a different timeline/year range than me but share your experiences/views if you ever experienced the same?

Novelette - February 26, 2024, 7:30 pm

I feel like time got faster for me, as recent life events had made me value it more. The more I value it the faster it seems to go.

Deany - February 26, 2024, 7:32 pm

Yup that shi going by way too fast fr

Syndicate - February 26, 2024, 8:22 pm

Honestly, ever since covid time has flown by completely for me. I barely remember the last 4 years overall to be honest. But I feel like everything has been flying by time wise

Jamika - February 26, 2024, 10:34 pm

(Feb 26, 2024 08:02 PM)?-Elision- Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Seems like the past 5-6 years have just flown by...2017-18 seems like it was a year or two ago.

Time seems to have flown by too fast and things seem to have taken place at a very very swift pace..anyone else relate to this? Perhaps on a different timeline/year range than me but share your experiences/views if you ever experienced the same?

Its said that the sweet time flew fast, so happy time pass quick without us feeling it akai64 - February 27, 2024, 12:09 am

this year went by so fast (

Zalbai - February 27, 2024, 2:01 pm

One theory suggests that the neurotransmitter dopamine is released when we perceive new stimuli. This is intended to help with learning time perception. However, because dopamine levels decline after the age of 20, the physiological explanation is that time appears to pass more quickly for the person.

Domestos - February 27, 2024, 2:38 pm

Yeah, kids born in 2006 are 18 now, didn't realize how quick time went by, though I feel it every day, it's almost as if 24 hours a day are not enough.

Bumface - February 28, 2024, 6:22 am

I remember when i went to school it'd feel so long during the day then the day would end and i'd be like where'd the day go? this happened a bit at work too lol

Grim - February 28, 2024, 11:15 am

(Feb 26, 2024 08:02 PM)?-Elision- Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Seems like the past 5-6 years have just flown by...2017-18 seems like it was a year or two ago.

Time seems to have flown by too fast and things seem to have taken place at a very very swift pace..anyone else relate to this? Perhaps on a different timeline/year range than me but share your experiences/views if you ever experienced the same?

honestly crazy how much time flies! i rememebr those days

Euaggelistes - February 28, 2024, 11:25 am

(Feb 26, 2024 08:02 PM)?-Elision- Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Seems like the past 5-6 years have just flown by...2017-18 seems like it was a year or two ago.

Time seems to have flown by too fast and things seem to have taken place at a very very swift pace..anyone else relate to this? Perhaps on a different timeline/year range than me but share your experiences/views if you ever experienced the same?

Yes, I feel like time moves faster than ever before... so many things I want to do, so little time to accomplish them.

peNchy - February 28, 2024, 12:04 pm

(Feb 27, 2024 03:01 PM)Sifiorka Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) One theory suggests that the neurotransmitter dopamine is released when we perceive new stimuli. This is intended to help with learning time perception. However, because dopamine levels decline after the age of 20, the physiological explanation is that time appears to pass more quickly for the person.

That's a nice theory man, makes sense in a way.

Also, I think that the world is simply faster than before; cars, food, internet, schedules etc etc. And we are constantly bombarded by this huge amount of information (from media, phones, social networks) so we try to keep up and our brains work hard so we can't be aware all of the time. That's why our days are too short and we are constantly lacking time.

I think awareness is key; but the system is designed to make mindless zombies out of people so it will only get faster and more saturated with shit.

Beherit - February 28, 2024, 2:37 pm

Age of the Aquarius is upon us. Get ready - the year just started and 2024 is shit.

HEAR HEAR, THE END IS NEAR!

Stanley - March 1, 2024, 2:43 pm

I'm Stanley HF's helper bot. The OP (original poster) of this thread wants everyone to see this page and has elected to bump it to the top of the showthread listing. Since HF doesn't want a ton of LQP (Low Quality Posts) this is the best method of bumping your content. There is a small ?yte fee for each bump. Any OP can bump any of their threads on HF from the linked icon on the top of their first post.

If you haven't already read the first post of this thread we encourage you to do so.

Thanks,
Stanley