QOTD:

If you had to name one thing that makes you stand out from others, what would that be?

Obsessed with anime ! Cringe ! I know... You?

I wouldn't exactly say that's cringe, because I enjoy anime myself ?

I don't exactly stand out as a person tbh. I'm pretty funny though

It's not I just had to reply to my own question kappa

diablospartan - March 2, 2024, 10:15 pm

Well i dont know if i am standing out but what i like about me its that i never quit no matter what and i start again .I have that mentality of having 2 options in life :never give up or i am dying .The give up doesnt exist in my life

Ash Ketchum - March 3, 2024, 4:10 am

I would say being 6'2 and built like arnold but also covered in anime tattoos, people find it to be a weird dynamic.

One thing that every single motorcycle rider will tell you that's special, is that we ride a motorcycle ?

Dr34dm0nk3y - March 28, 2024, 9:15 am

I seem to be very charismatic. When I was doing sales for a very short time, it was easy to get quotes signed and even talk them into more than they originally thought they wanted. My wife has always said people like me for some odd reason...

Also, babies, no matter where I am at, always try to come to me. We were at my kid's band concert and the little one in front of us kept trying to climb over her mom to get to me. They usually puke on me, but they love me!

TheCoz - April 3, 2024, 6:43 pm

One thing that's makes me stand out is my curiosity and ability to hyperfocus, followed by my lack of follow through lol. Some people may call it ADHD

DemonAsylum - April 3, 2024, 6:50 pm

For HF specific stuff and people? Shit probably being the go to bytes plug and or being the big Hackuman nerd lol.

TWIXX - April 3, 2024, 6:52 pm

My own opinion but i feel i am better than 90% of people at 90% of things lol

This makes me stand out. My competitiveness.

,confident, not cocky. Always humble, even more so in defeat.

When it comes to twins, is it normally not like this? Or despite being twins is it still a toss up versus if one of you was born today and the next a year from them as well as not even a twin?

Fraternal or 'dizygotic' twins

Two separate eggs (ova) are fertilized by two separate sperm, resulting in fraternal or 'dizygotic' (two-cell) twins. These babies will be no more alike than siblings born at separate times. The babies can be either the same sex or different sexes.

Identical or 'monozygotic' twins

Fertilization of a single egg by a single sperm, with the fertilized egg then splitting into two. Identical twins share the same genomes and are always of the same sex.

Mirror twins

in which the twins are matched as if they're looking into a mirror — with defining characteristics like birthmarks, dominant hands/feet, or other features on opposite sides.

So we're Identical twins but also "Mirror twins". ;)

The likelihood of having identical twins is about 1 in 250 (about 0.5%). Identical twins do not run in families.

There is a saying "Don't look for external confirmation that you are special; your uniqueness lies in your inner being."

This means that I don't need to seek validation from others to feel special or important. My uniqueness comes from within, from my personal qualities, values, and experiences. I don't need others to confirm my worth because it's already inherent in me. This proverb promotes self-confidence and self-awareness, reminding me to appreciate and celebrate my unique traits.

then this one "We are all the same beneath the surface, connected by our shared humanity and fundamental emotions."

This means that, regardless of our external differences or diverse life circumstances, we all share a common humanity and emotional reactions. It reminds us that, while we may be different in many aspects, we are connected by a shared human essence.

Somehow I walk with more sound then others, I have tried to find out why and how but can never find out, people recognize me by my footsteps, am very present in crowds.

Seems a baseline would be required in order to find out what all could be playing a factor and what are the for sure differences as well as comparisons. Time to get everyone in their undies and walk around one another.

I like horror movies lmao. and I love heavy metal, it's an odd characteristic to have that would make you stand out; as it's relatively normal. Though those around me don't share that hahaha

Cooligan - August 9, 2024, 8:24 am

I would say trust and loyalty. Was raised my entire childhood with these two traits being at the very top.

- Trust because the people in my life actually trust me with both big and small things, and that's honestly one of the best feelings you can have - is knowing that the people you deem close actually have faith in you and trust what you say, believe you on your word, etc..

- Loyalty because it's always been at the top of quality traits in people that I look for, and also something I always give to my upmost ability.

Without loyalty, there's no trust, and without trust, there's no real relationship. It's as simple as that in my opinion.
